Boston Ships May Join C.P.R. Fleet

Here are profiles of ships of Eastern Steamship Lines Inc. of Boston in which the C.P.R. is reportedly showing keen interest, with negotiations for the Evangeline (left) nearing completion. Unofficial reports also claim the C.P.R. may be negotiating for Evangeline's sister, the Ss. Yarmouth; and the newer, larger Ss. Acadia (right).

Evangeline would serve as replacement for C.P.R.'s lost Ss. Princess Kathleen. Significant figures relating to Evangeline: Built 1927, twin screw, four steam turbines, 5,000 gross tons, 365 feet long, 58-foot beam, speed of 19 knots when built.

Same for lost Princess Kathleen: Built 1925 (completely remodelled after Second World War in which she served as troopship), twin screw, 5,938 gross tons, 350 feet long, 61-foot beam, speed of 21 knots when built.

Figures for Acadia: Built 1932, twin screw, steam turbines, 6,185 gross tons, 367 feet long, beam of 62 feet, speed of 21 knots when built.

Ship Negotiations Near Completion

BY RAY WORMALD
Colonist Marine Editor

Negotiations for the purchase of the 365-foot passenger liner Ss. Evangeline of Eastern Steamship Lines Inc., of Boston, by the C.P.R. are nearing completion, and official word of the deal is expected "any minute now" from head offices of the C.P.R. in Montreal.

Yesterday it was learned a group of five Victoria and Vancouver men were already in New York ready to take over the ship as soon as negotiations are completed. Immediately following conclusion of negotiations:

Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamship Service, is still in New York. He and it is expected he will send back word for the remainder of the line's crew to leave this area immediately upon their being needed.

It is generally believed that problems relating to transfer of registry of the ship have been responsible for the delay in the deal, which reportedly involves the approximately $4,000,000.

C.P.R. officials both here and other ships of the Eastern Steamship Lines Inc. fleet in Vancouver admit quite frankly they "know more about the Yarmouth, a sister of Evangeline, than they are reading the newspapers" than they have heard senger liner Acadia from any quarters within the company.

There have even been local waterfront rumors "about the exact date the ship is due to reach this coast.

It is most likely the ship will be brought directly to Victoria, via the Panama Canal, and enter a local shipyard for various alterations required by her new owners.

The ship will replace the C.P.R.'s Princess Kathleen, lost in Alaska last September.

It has also been stated that representatives of both the Victoria's large shipyards are in New York looking over the Evangeline. They are presumably laying the ground work for an early bid on refit work to be handled here.

Veteran C.P.R. master Capt. A. Thomson, of Sidney, has been named to bring the Evangeline to this coast. It was this master who brought the company's new Princess Margarite and Princess of Nanaimo from the Old Country.

Meanwhile, no denial has been made of a report mentioned some time ago that the C.P.R. is also showing keen interest in two ships of the Eastern Steam-Lines Inc. fleet. They are the Yarmouth, a sister of Evangeline, and the newer and larger Acadia.

Faith Cure Blamed

BARRIE, Ont., Dec. 3 (CP)—Mrs. David Taylor says her daughter died after she gave insulin treatments to seek a cure by faith.

Mrs. Taylor said Wednesday her 19-year-old daughter, Mary, a diabetic since the age of three, sought a cure by, faith after listening to an itinerant preacher she died 48 hours later.

The girl, who lived at Lefroy, 12 miles south of here, attended meetings conducted by Pastor D. W. Holmes, the mother said. Sunday she did not take her insulin as she had been doing for 15 years. She died Wednesday after the traveling pastor left the district.

Pastor Holmes is a member of the Voice Healing Association, commonly known as the TVH. The group has an associate here, A. C. Valiere, Jr., whose name was mentioned last January after a Winnipeg couple was charged with murder in the prayer-season murder of their foster daughter. They later were committed to a mental institution.

The Winnipeg couple was reported to have attended several meetings held by Valiere. Police then said the daughter's death was tinged with religious fanaticism.

Mary's parents told this story:

They had heard of the traveling evangelist who preached faith healing from their neighbors with whom he was staying. The parents and Mary had faith. The girl attended the meetings.

Sunday night the family went to the wind-up revival meeting in Barrie. They came home filled with faith that Mary would be healed. They had heard that insulin had prevented from diabetes through faith.

Monday Mary did not feel well, but she did not go back to her insulin. Tuesday she felt worse. Her mother said the family still felt that faith would prevail. For a time she wavered, tempted to call the family doctor, but convinced that their faith was strong enough, the family continued to wait and pray.

UP ALL NIGHT

"I had faith she was going to get cured," the grief-stricken mother said.

But Tuesday night the family stayed up all night with their pal-sore daughter. She continued to get worse during the night. She died about noon Wednesday.

"I wish I had called the doctor," the mother said.

Pastor Holmes had held a one-week series of meetings in Orillia, 15 miles north of here. He left Barrie Monday and was believed heading south.

Pastor Holmes was in Toronto from November 2 to November 16, preaching at the United Apostolic Faith Church. He is listed as living in Tulsa, Okla.

Chief Inspector Smirle Lawson of Ontario has ordered an investigation into the death of the girl.

Small Eggs Unchanged

Arrival of Unexpected Supply Suggested as Possible Reason

The wholesale price of eggs in Victoria dropped by seven cents yesterday. For Grade A large eggs the new price is 56-57 cents a dozen, and for mediaunf 53-54 cents, a decrease of four cents. Small and grade B eggs remained unchanged.

The price to the producer dropped by eight cents for grade A large.

One news service, reporting the price drop, suggested it was caused by a large, unexpected shipment of eggs from the prairies.)

Service Hostel Committee Set

BY BRIAN LOUGHNAN

A step towards establishment of a servicemen's hostel —and memorial to King George VI—was taken last night at a public meeting in city hall.

About 40 people, mostly civic and service club representatives, met a committee appointed by Mayor Claude Harrison to discuss ways and means of establishing a service centre.

Chairman was Ald. James Neely. Views of armed forces and service club representatives were heard, and a committee appointed.

Speaking for the navy, Commodore E. R. Adams, commander of the naval barracks at Esquimalt, said, "There is not a decent place in Victoria where a serviceman can take a decent girl.

"Sailors at sea live like gentlemen, literally sleep around corners when they're aboard ship," he said. "Two-thirds of the men on every ship sleep on board when it is in port, and the problem of where to go and what to do ashore is chiefly a problem for single men and often very young men. We recruit at 17 years of age.

"We are not asking for a recreational centre, nor for a Y.M.C.A. set-up.

"The recent publicity about sailors getting into trouble is undeserved. The sailors have no place to go and nothing to do. The vast majority want a decent place to go, they don't want to get into trouble.

"They are being driven to the lower end of town."

Commodore Adams told the meeting that there are now about 1,000 navy men here, and there will be 8,000 to 10,000 when full recruiting is reached.

"That number of men is going to create a problem," he said. "But it is not only a navy problem, it's also a problem for the people at Victoria."

Lieut.-Col. A. Perron also addressed the meeting.

Major problem in point of numbers is much less than the navy," he said. "But a home atmosphere just can not exist in an army barracks like Work Point.

"Discipline helps to a degree, but we must take the problem one step further."

Referring to recent disturbances involving army men in Victoria streets, he said there had been no "riots."

"We were afraid there were going to be riots," he said. "But they were only supposed riots."

The R.C.A.F. was represented by Flt. Lieut. Harvey, who

Pen-Pal Sends Gift

The Aluminum Company of Canada yesterday gave the B.C. government an undertaking that it would finance the removable of all arcessible, merchantable timber from the area to be flooded in Tweedsmuir Park.

The arrangement was completed in Victoria yesterday between McNeely duPont, vice-president of Alcan, and R. E. Sommers, minister of lands and forests.

After the meeting, Mr. du Bose issued the following statement.

"At the request of the minister of lands and forests, Alcan has arranged to underwrite the financing of practical loggers to extract such merchantable timber from the area to be flooded as can be done on a commercial basis."

The Alcan vice-president said that negotiations had been taking place for some time between his company and the B.C. logging outfit that has already removed some of the timber from the shores of Ootsa Lake.

The logging company is being guaranteed against loss by Alcan, although the removal of this timber is not required by the company to its charter with the B.C. government.

The voluntary action of Alcan in this matter amicably settles the recent criticism by members of the B.C. government against

Alcan Agrees To Cut Trees

The flooding of valuable timber last night after meeting members of the B.C. government, said that no time would be lost in getting out the merchantable timber.

The logging company is rushing its equipment to the south side of Ootsa Lake before freezing hinders water movement, he said.

It is expected that the logging operations will continue for over a year and will be tackled as the waters in the reservoir are gradually rising. Most of the timber involved is around Ootsa and Sail Lakes.

Phone Rate Decision Due Today

OTTAWA Dec. 3 (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners announced today it will give decision at 9 a.m. P.S.T., Thursday, on an application for higher telephone rates in British Columbia.

The board concluded hearings in the case last week. The British Columbia Telephone Company has asked for "interim" increases aggregating $2,651,000 a year on local and long-distance rates.

Thursday's judgment will fix rates pending a fuller hearing early next year on a company application for an aggregate increase of $4,950,000 a year.

Truman Grants Wage Boost Despite Board

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—President Truman overruled the wage stabilization board Wednesday and approved a $1.90 daily wage boost for John L. Lewis' 375,000 soft coal miners.

The President's decision reached now week ago, was announced by Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, who said:

"This is not the decision I would have made. It is not the decision I would have recommended."

Stevens Raps Brewery Loans

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP)—Chairman H. H. Stevens of the British Columbia liquor inquiry commission today criticized a Vancouver brewery for "lending money to disgusting beer parlors where hundreds of paralytic drunks are served."

At another point Mr. Stevens said he had found from a personal survey that some hotel beer parlors are "trows of room as a shack" where the Liquor Act is continually broken.

His criticism came after Harry Mulholland, manager of Vancouver Breweries Ltd., told the commission his company has lent $500,000 to beer parlors and will not a cent has been repaid so far of a $300,000 loan to one.

The commission is trying to determine the best methods of controlling British Columbians with liquor by the glass, approved in a numerous plebiscite. Beer now may be bought in government liquor stores or beer parlors. Liquor may be purchased only from government stores or in a few private clubs.

"What I am interested in is the extent to which the brewing industry is tied into these private outlets," Mr. Stevens said.

"I think it is possible that you gentlemen carry half a million dollars in hotel loans on these premises without being responsible to some degree for the character of the premises."

Mr Mulholland said licenses of several hotels mentioned by Mr. Stevens had been suspended frequently.

"For serving customers when they are intoxicated, perhaps?" Mr. Stevens asked.

"I don't think they would serve customers who were intoxicated. Mr. Mulholland said.

"Oh, don't you?" snapped Mr Stevens. "I saw them served in hundreds. They were paralyzed. Disgustingly drunk."

Mills Planning To Shut Down

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP)—An operators' representative has predicted that all lumber mills in British Columbia's southern interior "will in all probability be idle before the week end.

The comment followed a three-hour meeting Wednesday between operators and union officials which started in stalemate and ended the same way.

V. C. Brown of Cranbrook, B.C., president of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said about 30 operators have already closed down and the rest are preparing to do so.

At the meeting, employers reiterated their ultimatum that the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL), agree to continuation of the 1951-52 contract.

Native Tells Of Mau Oath

KAPENGURIA, Kenya, Dec. 3 got out of taking the oath Reuters).—A Kikuyu tribesman appearing in Kenyatta in English says he saw Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta administer the oath of the Mau Mau.

"The 33-year-old native, who begged that his name be withheld, was a prosecution witness Wednesday at the Kenyatta and 5 other alleged leaders of the secret anti-white cult.

While the bearded Kenyatta sat staring stolidly at him and occasionally making a note on a sheet of paper, the witness described how in March, 1950, he saw a Kikuyu administering ceremony in a cooking shack.

Kenyatta, the witness related, told a man called Soloman Mbugua he was going to be initiated and become "a true Kikuyu."

During the ceremony Nemia swore he would help drive Europeans away or kill them, that he would not disclose any sikring of Europeans and that if asked if he was a Mau Mau he would say he was a member of the Kenya African Union, the witness said.

Kenyatta, 58, is president of the Kenya African Union.

Plan Made To Clear Merchantable Timber

U.N. Names Dr. Newton For Ceylon

A Sidney man has been appointed to a United Nations agricultural advisory board in Ceylon.

Dr. William Newton, Dominion Experimental Station at Saanichton, will leave for Ceylon early next year to serve in an advisory capacity with the agriculture department of the Ceylon government.

Dr. Newton, a specialist in virus disease of plants, has been with the Saanichton experimental station for 24 years. His only other work away from the station was in 1935 when he served a year in England on an exchange basis.

The mission to Ceylon will be of no definite length, Dr. Newton said last night, but it will continue as long as the need exists. He is under contract to the world organization for one year.

"We are considerably more advanced in the treatment of virus disease in plants, and should be of much help to them," he said.

Before going to Ceylon, Dr. Newton will go to Rome, headquarters of the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization, for a 10-day briefing period.

Plane Heard Above Fog In Nanaimo

NANAIMO, B.C., Dec. 3 (CP).—Preparations for handling an emergency night landing were made tonight at Nanaimo Civic Airport after a plane was reported circling above the city in fog and rain.

However, no plane appeared over the airport, which is seven miles south of Nanaimo and is not equipped with lights for night landings.

Residents reported hearing the plane at about 6.15 p.m. and called R.C.M.P.

In Vancouver, the R.C.A.F. said no planes were listed as missing or overdue and "we can only assume that it was a false alarm."

Price of Eggs Drops Seven Cents in City

The wholesale price of eggs in Victoria dropped by seven cents yesterday. For Grade A large eggs the new price is 56-57 cents a dozen, and for medium 53-54 cents, a decrease of four cents. Small and grade B eggs remained unchanged.

The price to the producer dropped by eight cents for grade A large.

Health Plan Organized Liberal Claims

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP).—A government spokesman says the groundwork has been laid in Canada for the "best national health plan in the world."

However, Dr. E. A. McCusker, parliamentary assistant of Health Minister Martin, said in the Commons today it is not yet time to launch the plan as a national health insurance scheme.

Percy Wright (C.C.F., Melfort) quickly took issue with that stand and called for steps at this session of parliament to bring the insurance scheme into existance.

He cited reports that half the army's would-be recruits are rejected as an indication that Canada's health standards need lifting.

They spoke as the Commons moved along in the general Throne speech debate which opens the way for discussion of almost anything.

Breweries Criticized

Commissioner Raps Beer Loans

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP).—Chairman H. H. Stevens of the British Columbia liquor inquiry commission today criticized a Vancouver brewery for "lending money to disgusting beer parlors where hundreds of paralytic drunks are served."

At another point Mr. Stevens said he had found from a personal survey that some hotel beer parlors are "rows of rooms in a shack" where the Liquor Act is continually broken.

His criticism came after Harry Mulholland, manager of Vancouver Breweries Ltd., told the commission his company has lent $590,000 to beer parlors and that not a cent has been repaid so far of a $30,000 loan to one.

The commission is trying to determine the best methods of providing British Columbians with liquor by the glass, approved in a summer plebiscite. Beer now may be bought in government liquor stores or beer parlors. Liquor can be purchased only from government stores or in a few private clubs.

At one stage, W. R. Mackenzie, president of Vancouver Breweries, interjected that his firm was doing the best it could under an "obsolete" liquor law.

"I agree with you in that," Mr. Stevens said.

"We are not any different in giving those loans from the oil companies who put up beautiful gas stations for their tenants or the fishery companies who will buy boats for the fishermen," Mr. Mulholland said.

Stevens Tours Taverns

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP).—Chairman Harry Stevens of the British Columbia liquor inquiry commission decided to see for himself what goes on in some of Vancouver's beer parlors.

He said at a commission hearing today that he and commission secretary E. W. C. Sharp toured four skid-road taverns last Saturday night, interviewing managers unofficially and observing conduct.

"I saw hundreds and hundreds of absolute drunks," Mr. Stevens said. "I saw men staggering in, slumping down in chairs and getting glasses piled up in front of them."

Mr. Stevens said with a grin that he did not invite one member of the commission to go with him—non-drinker Very Rev. Cecil Swanson.

Police Identify Crash Victim

NELSON, B.C., Dec. 3 (CP).—Mrs. Sadie Lindsay, 69, a Vancouver woman who was moving to a new home in Edmonton, was one of two persons killed Tuesday when a bus tumbled into Kootenay Lake.

Mrs. Lindsay's identity was established Wednesday by R.C.M.P. The other woman who died in the accident, which injured 10 persons, was identified earlier as Mrs. Frances A. Whitfield.

Britain Reduces Defense Plans

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—Britain has cut the cost of her defense program slightly and has slowed its pace for 1953, informed sources report.

The £4,700,000,000 three-year program laid down in 1951 had been slowed down once before because the country found it lacked certain machine tools and raw materials and the economic burden was too great.

Now the program is being revamped again to keep it in step with latest developments in military science.

Informed sources said today defense planners have recognized that atomic developments affect air strategy in two important respects.

The air striking power of a country like Britain gradually will be concentrated around a comparatively small force of supersonic jet-propelled bombers, lessening the need for thousand-strong bomber fleets.

Air defenses of this vulnerable island in time will hinge on the use of guided missiles and rockets ultimately reducing the need for conventional anti-aircraft guns which were massed by the thousands here during the war.

Thames Startles Londoners

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP).—The Thames River, which cuts through the centre of London, seeped through its embankment in seven places today and gave the world's largest city a brief scare.

London bobbies mounted guard between Blackfriars Bridge and Temple underground station as water spouted from the cement walls in a miniature geyser after an exceptionally high tide.

Just after 3 p.m. the tide began to recede.

The cracks were small, but Londoners remembered back in January 7, 1928, when similar size cracks grew and before the night ended 50 feet of embankment gave way and 14 persons were drowned.

Truman Grants Wage Boost Despite Board

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP).—President Truman over-ruled the wage stabilization board Wednesday and approved a $1.90 daily wage boost for John L. Lewis' 375,000 soft coal miners.

The President's decision reached one week ago, was announced by Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam, who said:

"This is not the decision I would have made. It is not the decision I would have recommended."

But Putnam told reporters he would not resign over the disagreement in handling the case.

Indo-China Battle Crucial

HANOI, Indo-China, Dec. 3 (AP).—Indo-China's biggest battle is being fought at close range around the village of Na San.

Thousands of French union troops, besieged by double their number of the Communist-led Vietminh, have their backs to the wall.

The wall in this case is an air strip. Two weeks ago Na San, 117 miles west of Hanoi, was just a pinpoint on the military maps of northwest Indo-China. Today it represents France's hope and determination to check Communist encroachment westward from the upper Red River.

If Na San falls, the French survivors must drop back to the French-held Red River delta. Some might be flown out. Others would have to try a fighting retreat.

All Southeast Asia is watching closely. A serious French set back would have repercussions in Malaya, Burma and the Philippines. What are the French chances?

Senior staff officers at Na San state they believe they can hold out indefinitely.

This is open to debate, but the French have already hurt the Vietminh badly.

U.N. Forwards Peace Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 3 (CP).—The United Nations has ordered the dispatch to the Chinese Communists and North Koreans of a peace plan for Korea along with an appeal that it be accepted as the basis of agreement on a cease-fire.

Mills Planning To Shut Down

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP).—An operators' representative has predicted that all lumber mills in British Columbia's southern interior "will in all probability" be idle before the week end.

The comment followed a three-hour meeting Wednesday between operators and union officials which started in stalemate and ended the same way.

V. C. Brown of Cranbrook, B.C., president of the Interior Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said about 10 operators have already closed down and the rest are preparing to do so.

At the meeting, employers reiterated their ultimatum that the International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), agree to continuation of the 1951-52 contract.

Coronation Program To Be Sold in Canada

LONDON, Dec. 3 (Reuters).—An official program and guide to the June 2, 1953, coronation is to be sold in Canada and the United States for $1.

It was announced tonight that it will be published May 12. The souvenir program, its cover embossed with the royal arms, will contain an explanation of the significance of the day's historic ceremonies, a biography of the Queen and a poem written by John Masefield, the poet laureate.

Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury who will crown the Queen, will contribute an introduction to the section explaining the Westminster Abbey coronation service.

The program, intended to help overseas radio listeners and visitors to London pick their way through the maze of ceremonial, will be sold to benefit charity. Proceeds will go to a fund started by King George V, who died in 1936, to further the welfare of young people.

Pen-Pal Sends Gift

Having cool, long-distance puff on her Turkish "hookah," sometimes known as "hubble-bubble pipe," is pretty Sylvia Dickinson, 1747 Emerson. Miss Dickinson received ornate smoker from Turkish pen-pal, Eftim Lucas of Istanbul. Letter friendship was arranged by British film star Jean Kent, with whom both correspond.—(Colonist photo.)

Witness Claims Mau Mau Oath Given by African Union Leader

KAPENGURIA, Kenya, Dec. 3 (Reuters).—A Kikuyu tribesman says he saw Jomo (Burning Spear) Kenyatta administer the oath of the Mau Mau.

The 33-year-old native, who begged that his name be withheld, was a prosecution witness Wednesday in the British colonial government's case against Kenyatta and five other alleged leaders at the secret anti-white cult.

While the bearded Kenyatta sat staring stolidly at him and occasionally making a note on a sheet of paper, the witness described how in March, 1950, he saw a Mau Mau oath-taking ceremony in a cooking shack.

Kenyatta, the witness related, told a man called Soloman Nemis he was going to be initiated and become "a true Kikuyu."

During the ceremony Nemis swore he would help drive Europeans away or kill them, that he would not disclose any slaying of Europeans and that if asked if he was a Mau Mau he would say he was a member of the Kenya African Union, the witness said.

Kenyatta, 50, is president of the Kenya African Union.

The witness said he himself got out of taking the oath by appealing to Kenyatta in English and threatening to "expose everything to the government."

Prosecutor Anthony Somerhough said the Crown would seek to show that Kenyatta was actively connected with the Mau Mau cult since its early days and that it was "a militant wing" of the 100,000-member Kenya African Union, the colony's most powerful political organization.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

MY father and I and the dog Kim went for a walk to the Cowichan River on a grey Sunday afternoon. The old Graham house still stood in dignified loneliness at the end of its long, curving driveway, but some of the trees and brush on the property had been cleared and a sign proclaimed a new subdivision.

Once the river had swept past the back yard of the Graham house, eating away the land, and much money was spent building log buttresses to fend it off. These set up handy pools and eddies. The Log Jam was a famous swimming place. All the kids went there. I remember a child-built cave in the mud bank, from which ammunition was drawn for mud-fights. I remember swimming and chasing some girls (much older than myself) along the bank with a snake.

Later the swimming pool moved further upstream, and later still that branch of the river dried up, leaving a slough. As my father and I and the dog crossed the bridge over the slough, I saw the same old log on which we kids used to balance while up to our necks in the river on a summer's day. It used to lie near the bottom, but now it was sticking far above what water remained.

* * *

We walked one of the gravelly paths among the bushes of the river flats. The dog barked and sniffed ahead on long, joyful forays, running back at intervals to reassure itself that we were following. Then our way led through the trees, and we tramped the soggy dead cottonwood leaves underfoot.

Then we came to another place where a wide, sweeping river channel had dwindled to a pleasant weedy brook. Here and there I thought I recognized familiar landmarks, grassy knolls now overgrown with young trees and big logs now half-rotten. We scrambled up a bank, burst through thorns and brush and found ourselves behind the tennis courts. In these thickets my friends and I had searched for many a lost ball.

Duncan Lawn Tennis Club was a sad ghost of its old self. All it possessed now were three asphalt courts. Where the other courts used to be, the carefully manicured turf had sprouted into dry, weedy hay.

That rank pasture beyond the second fence was once the choice court where the main matches in big tournaments were played. I could hear in the mind's ear the "bap" of ball on gut, and see in the mind's eye the white-clad players moving about. At the far end was the blackberry bush which we lesser ones used to plunder between friendly sets.

Nobody was here now but my father and I and the dog. While the dog had a skirmish with a hostile spaniel, I went up the rickety steps to the pavilion. I remembered it new, which didn't seem so long before. Now it was a half-roofless wreck. On the shady veranda the people had sat around having tea, wagging their heads back and forth to watch the play below, or making leisurely talk. I remembered standing there with a sandwich and a tennis racquet on the day of the outbreak of war, and discussing what might happen next.

Now the war had come and gone, and some of the tea-drinkers and tennis players had gone on long journeys. The veranda was no longer a veranda, but a kind of deck to the grey sky. Holes appeared in the floor. I saw a piece of club stationery lying there, and the burners on the old oil stove in the kitchen twisted askew and rusty.

Next door, where the driveway to the club once led between high trees, were houses. And so it was all the way home. Familiar places were transformed. The old houses had many new neighbors crowding near. Fields had grown crops of small new bungalows. Dark and strange woods had become flat and tame, front yards, with clotheslines flapping over them.

But Kim found many rich smells and new dogs to bark at as he scampered ahead of us, pausing a moment at each way station and trotting on, as impatient to get home from his walk as he had been to start.

Hostel Committee Appointed

warned that increasing numbers of air force men will be visiting Victoria now that the Comox base is reaching full strength.

Ald Brent Murdoch said, "The Y.M.C.A. can't cope with all those men, although they are certainly doing a wonderful job. This is not a problem for the services only, it's a problem for Greater Victoria."

Speakers from the floor were allowed two minutes each. First speaker was George Banfield, representing Victoria North Kiwanis Club.

"I would like to ask Commodore Adams whether any individuals or private firms have offered to grant sums of money toward such a hostel?" he asked.

Commodore Adams said three separate offers had been made by "private enterprise" but that they had been made as "purely business ventures."

Destruction of Prince Robert House, former servicemen's hostel, was brought up by P. B. Freedman, who said Prince Robert House was "ruined by the city council of 1950-51."

Backing of Esquimalt Council was promised Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

"I am more qualified than anyone in this room to speak on the question of a hostel," he said.

"I would like to see the hostel located in Esquimalt but we know the troops wouldn't like that, they want it in Victoria.

"In view of the tremendous sum of money spent in Victoria by servicemen, it is the council's duty to help in the matter of a hostel if they can. And if there is anything the Esquimalt council can do, we will. These servicemen are just ordinary citizens and we want to look after them."

In answer to a question from Ald Frank Mulliner, Forrest L. Shaw, chairman of the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada, explained the League's stand on the matter.

"Without various revenues from civilians, such as rental of halls and auditoriums any hostel is going to operate at a deficit," he said.

The League operates several hostels in Canada, he said in ... tax, and Prince Robert House was run by the League both with federal support during the war and without support afterwards.

"During the war, when the League was running Prince Robert House, the government underwrote losses of as much as $22,000 a year," he said.

"We ran it ourselves for five years after the war, and it operated at a deficit of $6,000 or $7,000 a year. At the end of five years we had to close it.

"It required at least $30,000 to put the building in shape," he said. The League's lease on the property expired at the end of March, 1951.

The Navy League asked Victoria City Council to help, according to Mr. Shaw, "and we were turned down flat.

"In Victoria they even soak us taxes on our sea cadet barracks," he said. "It's the only place in Canada they do that."

"The Navy League never goes into a city to run a hostel if there is no co-operation from the city council," he said.

"If someone would go into it on a business basis that would solve your problem," Mr. Shaw stated.

Answering a question from George Gordon, Y.M.C.A. representative, Commodore Adams said, "Private enterprise is naturally interested in a hostel so that they can get a license. They think the Navy can get a license for them."

Mr Neely said, "The word 'license' as used by Commodore Adams means a liquor license."

The federal government has advised the Recreational Council of Greater Victoria that it will not go into the matter of a hostel "at the present time," said John Halstead, president of the Council.

"I wrote to the government personally," he said. "But they are probably afraid they would be asked for hostels all over Canada if they helped Victoria with this one."

Full support [illegible] of the Salvation Army was offered by Major Cliff Milley, who said, "We would be happy to lend personnel to a properly [illegible] in Victoria."

"Servicemen have problems that are not solved by a glass of liquor," he said. "Let's forget about opening a place where a man can get a drink. There are too many places around this town where men can get plastered to the ears."

A motion to appoint a hostel committee was made by J. A. Bland, spokesman for the Native Sons of B.C.

He added that the hostel should also be erected as a memorial to King George VI. The motion carried and a committee of seven was appointed.

Committee members are J. A. Bland; Major Cliff Milley, Commodore K. A. Adams, Ald Brent Murdoch, P. C. Barr, Legion representative; Forrest L. Shaw and Reeve A. P. Wurtele.

Province's School Boards Advised To Avoid Increases in New Budgets

School boards throughout the province have been advised to prepare budgets "without over-all increases."

Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston yesterday announced that the request had been made in "line with the policy of our government, of efficiency and [illegible] ing schools costs. Costs of 1942 were about $11,500,000. Overall education costs the past year were nearly $58,000,000," she added.

Her announcement was the second this week from a provincial department ordering a "hold the line" policy by public groups. Health Minister Eric Martin had told hospitals that the daily rate paid to them by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service would not be increased in 1953.

The education minister noted also that her department is aiming at a 10-per-cent reduction in the budget but that increased school enrolments would be taken into account.

G. L. Chatterton, chairman of Saanich school board, said he could not see what the immediate result would be in his area.

Richard H. Reeve, Greater Victoria school board chairman, said "With an increase of 800 students, I am not prepared to say to what extent we are able to justify a reduction in this year's budget."

Mrs. Rolston said she was greatly alarmed at the pyramid

Scott Seeking China Mission

W. A. Scott, latest new recruit in the Social Credit party, has asked leaders of the party to sponsor him in a one-man peace and trade mission to China.

An independent candidate defeated in the last provincial elections, Mr. Scott has only recently joined the Socreds.

He said yesterday national party leader Solon Low had agreed to the principle of re-establishing peaceful trade with China.

An employee of the Chinese government for 22 years before he came to Canada, Mr. Scott claims he can go to China and "find out the real truth by mingling with people off the beaten track."

He said that his experience in China taught him that the Chinese people respect "the average Canadian citizen" more than any other in the world.

He emphasized that his plan to visit the Orient had nothing to do with the Canadian Peace Council or any of its provincial or local branches.

Talks Cover World Prices

LONDON, Dec 3 (UP)—Commonwealth statesmen, ending their first week of financial discussions, touched on the controversial question of imperial preferences and considered ways of preventing violent fluctuations in prices of international commodities.

Delegates were reported in complete accord Wednesday on the desirability of international agreements on commodities, similar to that already in effect on wheat.

Premiers and finance ministers at the nine-country conference also canvassed the possibility of "emergency" commodity arrangements.

It was understood this implied a quick consultation among countries in event of a sharp fall in the price of any important international commodity.

Robert Evans Elected By Society

Robert S. Evans was elected president of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Victoria Centre at its annual meeting at Terry's last night. He succeeds Mrs. J. R. Noble.

Edward H. Hope was named first vice-president and Miss J. K. McDonald was chosen second vice-president. Other officers elected were John L. D. Jervis, secretary-treasurer; Major F. R. Gibson, recorder; Robert Peters, director of telescopes; John L. Climenhaga, librarian, and N. G. Rogers, Miss A. B. Underhill, F. R. Williams, O. W. Smith, G. J. Odgers and Gordon Shaw, council members.

Dr. McDonald of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Saanich spoke on "The Sun's Turbulent Surface." A motion picture, "Solar Prominences," produced by McMath-Hulbert Observatory of Michigan, was shown.

Gale Warning Taken Back

Victorians can relax. The storm predicted for today is not coming, the weatherman says.

A gale warning issued by the weather office early last night was withdrawn later in the evening when winds dropped and the forecast storm veered away from Victoria.

Winds up to 30 miles an hour are expected today, but will be caused by local disturbances rather than a full-fledged storm, weatherman William Mackie says.

Torrential rains and high winds that lashed the city early yesterday morning did no damage and caused only a few chimney fires.

Seals Bring In Good Return

"Returns are coming in marvellously," Mrs. Alice Kimmitt, chairman of the Soroptimist TB Christmas Seal committee, reported yesterday.

Sales now total $8,163.45, Mrs. Kimmitt reported. This figure is almost $1,000 more than that collected during the same time last year. The committee's objective is $15,000.

Seals may be obtained by writing Room 14, 749 Broughton Street, or by phoning B 4422.

Labor Raps Speaker In U.K. House

LONDON, Dec. 3 (AP) — The Labor opposition in the House of Commons demands a parliamentary showdown with the Conservatives on charges that the Speaker is unfair.

Trouble developed in debate on ... Mediterranean countries.

Churchill said the North Atlantic Treaty powers still are considering the command and he hoped to have a statement after Christmas. Then, wagging a finger at Emanuel Shinwell, defense minister in the old Labor government, Churchill said:

"I would warn Mr. Shinwell not to be too prophetic about the way things are going. They may not all be as unfortunate to this country as he would no doubt wish."

SHOCKING

Labor members shouted "No!" "Shocking!" and demanded that Churchill retract.

Shinwell himself said he would ignore it.

Sir Charles McAndrew, deputy Speaker, did not ask Churchill to retract. House rules forbid a member from casting an unfavorable light on the motives of another.

Then the Labor members accused McAndrew of playing favorites with the Conservatives by choking off debate.

They brought in three motions of censure against the Churchill government.

OFFICIAL MOTION

The official Labor motion criticizing the Conservatives' conduct of House business. This is the main motion to be debated by Churchill and Attlee today.

They brought in three motions against McAndrew. This accused him of improperly curtailing debate.

An unofficial Labor motion which may never reach debate, reported by Arthur Lewis and 30 other Labor members, accusing Churchill of "imputing unworthy and unpatriotic motives" in Shinwell.

Indies Sought As Province

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP) — Canada needs a tropical province to complement her northern climate and that province is available, A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) told the Commons today. He said the West Indies should join Canada as the 11th province.

They are in a transition stage with Britain pulling out her military forces and ... and exerting increasing influence, he said. The Indies are looking for security and Canada could give it.

Radio Control To Operate Power Dam

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP). Premier Bennett will officially open a new British Columbia Electric Company radio-controlled dam near Chilliwack, B.C., from the Vancouver Hotel here Thursday night.

By throwing a switch the premier will put into operation a $9,000,000 dam at Wahleach Lake, about 63 miles east of here, which will generate 82,000 horsepower.

Operations of the dam will be controlled by radio from the B.C. Electric offices in Vancouver. Water will flow from the lake through a 13,760-foot tunnel cut through solid granite. It will drop 2,000 feet to a bucket wheel—one of the highest heads in any hydro-electric development in North America.

Convicted Czechs Hanged

VIENNA, Dec. 3 (AP) — Rudolf Slansky, former Communist boss of Czechoslovakia and Vlado Clementis, its former foreign minister, have been hanged in Prague with nine other fallen party leaders.

... cutions were carried out hinted that a savage purge of Czechoslovak Communist ranks was beginning. At the same time there were many signs that Communism's 1952 purge was to hit all the satellite Communist countries and perhaps many persons inside the Soviet Union itself.

In Romania, Ana Pauker, former vice-premier, foreign minister and friend of Stalin, is apparently awaiting trial with many others.

The Communist party inside the Soviet Union itself, particularly in the 15 republics outside great Russia, appears to be undergoing a severe purge. Evidence of this was the announcement from the Soviet Ukraine of death sentences for three men accused of embezzlement.

The circumstances suggested that Ukrainian nationalism and underground opposition to Moscow are on the rise there again.

In Czechoslovakia the government announced Tuesday the firing of the foreign trade minister, two of whose deputies were among the 14 defendants of the purge trial. It also announced the assignment of a new ambassador in Moscow. The former ambassador, Karl Kreibich, may be on the purge list.

Princess Pats Land Today

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP) — The 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, will reach Seattle, Wash., Thursday after a year's service in Korea, defense headquarters announced today.

Some 458 members of the Calgary unit and attached sub-units are due to land and start homeward by train for Christmas.

The 1st Battalion was relieved recently in Korea by the regiment's 3rd Battalion.

Union Charges At Kitimat Bring Denial

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP) — Kitimat Constructors today denied union charges that living conditions for workmen at Kitimat are "deplorable."

Union stewards representing workers at Kitimat, 400 miles up-coast from Vancouver, Tuesday night called on the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council to investigate living conditions at the Aluminum Company of Canada smelter site.

J. A. Fass, Kitimat Constructors' personnel director, termed the union charge "most exaggerated."

He said extra beds were put in three rooms "and that made one or two people disgruntled as they had a room to themselves before that."

Diplomatic Successes Brighten Franco's Birthday

MADRID, Dec. 3 (Reuters) — Gen. Francisco Franco, with two recent diplomatic successes to his credit, celebrates his 60th birthday today with no serious rivals on the political horizon.

Observers here believe that, barring any unforeseen developments, he is set to remain at the head of Spanish affairs for a long time.

His supporters, totting up the ... listed high Spain's success in November in being elected a member of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Almost simultaneously, new agreements signed in Tangier among Britain, France, Spain and Italy virtually restored to Spain the administrative privileges taken from her after the Second World War.

They listed, too, the abolition of food rationing this year, a wheat crop of about 4,000,000 tons, coal production of 12,000,000 tons compared with 7,000,000 in 1935; and industrial activity index at 199.1 on the basis of 100 for the years 1922-26.

The defense conferences now going on with the United States are also cited by Franco's supporters as factors which have raised Spain's international prestige during 1952.

Franco's critics, less well placed to air their views, ... against him. Wages have been kept far too low, industrialization has been given undue preference over housing, and heavy spending has more than doubled the public debt.

Critics likewise claim a democratic Spain would have received lavish help from the U.S. and would thus have prospered with far less effort and sacrifice.

Impartial observers here say Spain has made great economic progress in the last few years.

Organized opposition to the regime which reached its maximum activity in 1944-46 has dwindled. Franco has relaxed, but not removed, censorship of the printed and spoken word.

More political activity is tolerated, though still only within the framework of Spain's sole political organization, the Falange movement.

Doctors Hear City Publisher

EDMONTON, Dec. 3 (CP) — Stuart Keate, publisher of the Victoria Daily Times, says doctors cannot win their fight against socialized medicine without a militant public opinion on their side.

Mr. Keate addressed the Edmonton Academy of Medicine Wednesday night. He said newspapers provide the channels of communication through which medicine's case may be stated.

In urging better relations between doctors and newspapermen, he said the coolness between them is because doctors underestimate the vast and compelling interest of the public in their work.

"There are a dozen good stories a day in every hospital in Canada, which with proper handling would make arresting news in our papers," he said.

"Many day-to-day events, based on scientific research and entirely legitimate, stories which would reflect resounding credit on the medical profession, are missed because we have not yet learned to communicate with each other."

Mr. Keate said doctors should allow their names to be used in newspaper stories.

"Our argument is that we believe the public has a right to know whose work is being described and whose opinions are reflected in the text of the article.

"To adopt a policy of not quoting authorities would open the way for unreliable reports on medicine by irresponsible publications. Also, we feel very strongly that the story of medical progress is the story of people as well as facts."

Ground Search Called Off For Plane Lost in East

WASAGA BEACH, Ont., Dec. 3 (CP) — Ground search in this area for a lost single-engine plane carrying four Alberta football fans has been called off but the air search will continue, army and R.C.A.F. officers said tonight.

Planes from the R.C.A.F. station at Centralia based at Camp Borden, will resume the search of the lower end of Georgian bay for the craft, missing since Friday.

The plane disappeared on the last lap of a flight from Edmonton to Toronto for last Saturday's Grey Cup game. The plane has not been reported since it left Houghton, in upper Michigan.

The air search Thursday will be concentrated near Midland.

The world's most southern city, Punta Arenas in the Strait of Magellan, is the centre of a large sheep industry.

Sonic 'Boom' Startles Ottawa

OTTAWA, Dec. 3 (CP) — No one was hurt. Nothing was blown up. But it took Ottawans more than two hours to determine that Wednesday.

It was their first experience of the "sonic boom," an explosion caused by jet aircraft bursting through the sound barrier at 750 miles an hour.

The "explosion" was caused, it turned out, by two F-86 Sabre jets plummeting straight down from 40,000-odd feet and passing the speed of sound. The aircraft, from No. 431 squadron at nearby Uplands airport, were piloted by F.O. Keith Booth of Edmonton and F.O. Sydney Burrows of New Westminster, B.C.

R.C.A.F. officers said their pilots crack the sonic barrier "all the time" as a regular part of their training. However they generally "boom" Uplands itself, so as not to startle Ottawa residents.

Ottawans over a wide area, however, were taken by surprise Wednesday. They flooded fire and police departments and newspaper offices with telephone calls. Some said it sounded "like the blast of a bomb." Others said it sounded "like somebody upstairs falling out of bed."

R.C.A.F. officers were surprised that the shock could be felt over an area which included Ottawa south, Wrightsville, Que., four miles to the north, Ottawa west and the Glebe district.

One officer at Uplands said the jet squadrons there generally "aim" the "booms" at their own station, so as not to startle residents.

Election Draws 38 Candidates

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (BUP). Thirty-eight candidates will contest the 14 open seats in the Vancouver civic elections December 10.

There were no last minute applications as City Clerk Doug Little closed the nominations book at city hall.

Four men are contesting the mayoralty race, 15 men and women are seeking council seats, 10 are running for school trustee and nine for parks board.

Let Right Be Done

FORTY years ago the British House of Commons heard the cry "Let right be done" ring through its chambers; this week at Ottawa the Canadian House of Commons heard the same clarion call for justice. Forty years ago a boy cadet had his career wrecked at its threshold; this year a young army officer has had his career wrecked at the height of its brilliant promise.

The case of Brigadier Connelly, retired 11 years before his time on the vacuous ground there was no employment for him, has disturbing and repugnant undertones. It suggests that the Canadian Army is the plaything of cabinet ministers and its officers at the mercy of political vanity and manoeuvre. The facts seem all too indicative that the external affairs department was embarrassed by its petulent protest over the use of Canadian troops at the Koje Island prison camp, and pounced on a technicality to save its face no matter at whose expense.

If as liaison officer Brigadier Connelly failed to notify Ottawa in advance that the Canadians were going to Koje, and it is not yet established that he did, it seems apparent he referred the matter to the quarter most concerned, the officer commanding the Canadian troops, who rightfully saw no objection to the temporary employment of his men in the role of camp guards. The whole matter was so petty in any case that it is astounding to find a senior officer made the victim of either spite or wounded ego.

Much disquiet rules throughout the country over the brigadier's summary dismissal. His service in Korea drew encomiums from high-ranking U.N. commanders and his fellow officers speak of his capacities with marked admiration. If the facts are not as presented to the House by Major-General Pearkes, why then was he retired 11 years early when his record warrants employment to the limit of his time?

Defense Minister Claxton has been ungraciously silent on the matter, a silence that induces misgiving and does serious harm to an officer who has served the nation well in peace and war. Is it to be inferred that the minister looks complacently on the making of scapegoats in order that the government might get out of awkward blunders, and that he feels no sense of loyalty to his subordinates? This will be the deduction drawn less Mr. Claxton gives a frank and full account of the Connelly case, a case that must cause great unease among other service officers and one which has left the strong suspicion that a grave injustice has occurred.

Let right be done. Let parliament not rest until it has uncovered the whole story, without undue concern for the vanity of any cabinet minister but with deep intent to see that the officer affected is not permanently wronged.

Relief for Vehicle Owners

SINCE the Social Credit government has promised substantial tax cuts, there may be some hope at last of relief from the inordinately high license fees on motor vehicles. The new government has said repeatedly that taxes must be fair and and reasonable, and here is one place where it could begin slashing, because the annual levies on motor vehicles in British Columbia are neither. The fees themselves are far out of line with those in other provinces, and the revenue from them is millions of dollars in excess of actual requirements for purposes of regulation, which is the original but now almost forgotten concept of licensing.

The motorists of B.C. make up probably the heaviest-burdened taxpaying group in the province, with levies in one form or another loaded onto them by government at all levels. With the enormous revenue it now receives from the tax on gasoline the province could well afford to reduce the load which falls in one heavy lump on car owners at the beginning of every year. In many instances where vehicles are necessary in earning a living the size of the fee causes distinct hardship. The reduction proposed by the B.C. Automobile Association would remove at least one of the disadvantages felt by the motor vehicle owners of this province in relation to those of the rest of Canada, and at the same time leave the government with ample funds to cover the regulatory and administrative functions of the motor vehicle branch.

A cut in the license fees would automatically lower the province's financial assistance to municipalities, at present sharing on a proportional basis one-third of the net revenue from motor vehicles. That fact, however, should not be advanced as an argument against downward revision of the scale. There are other ways in which the loss to the municipalities could be made good. For example they could and indeed should in any event be given grants from gasoline tax revenue, which the municipalities used to receive before the province sequestered this field entirely many years ago. Such a division of returns from gasoline tax would be equitable in view of the fact that by far the largest part of them is derived from the use of roads built and maintained at municipal expense.

Time for a Recheck

THE provincial government may find a considerable body of public opinion behind it on the principle that school, hospital and other public service costs in British Columbia have gone high enough to warrant a thorough recheck before there are to be any more costly budgetary advances. Not a few municipalities are in difficulties now, particularly over school financing; not alone through the terrific cost of building new edifices, but also with the operation and management of the school system itself. The effectiveness of the new methods of student training aside, the ballooning costs of our system of education are a serious cause for concern with all agencies which have to find the money.

It is a notable fact, as many educators on this continent have begun to discover, that private schools up to an including university level have a far better cost ratio per trained pupil than the publicly operated systems. Something about the public purse always seems to attract extravagance and waste. British Columia cannot go on forever building $500,000 schools wherever local pride may suggest, even if under today's conditions they could be properly staffed. It is certainly time to reassess British Columbia's school tax dollar, to see what it is producing in fact. Not all advance is progress.

OLD TIMES RECALLED

Sir,—I take the Colonist and read articles on "Old Homes and Families." The restaurant mentioned on October 26, giving menus, was my father's, Ernest Escalet. I was not on earth then, but recall all this being told to me. I am an old Victorian, and it warmed my heart to think my father is still remembered after all these years for his excellent cuisine.

Recently the Colonist had an article about my splendid catch of tyees from Campbell River. I go every year, but this year's catch was outstanding.

I have an idea I may write a book of my father's life. He had a very colorful one and was quite an outstanding character. It may prove to be interesting, if I ever get to it.

EXAMINATIONS AND GRADES

Sir,—Recently two members of the British Columbia Education Department spoke in defense of our educational system. The superintendent of provincial education said, if he was reported correctly in the press, that "Canadian educationists were doing a better job now than ever." He condemned the critics, and very wrongly so.

The education system now in British Columbia started to go down when the powers to be at that time decided to pass pupils into entrance and high school on recommendation. I believe this was done by a former minister of education who formerly hailed from Saskatchewan, and possibly one other.

I have been interested in education in British Columbia for a great many years. I have watched my own children in the past, and other people's children. I have with many others watched the fall of our once splendid system. Now we hear of grandchildren in all walks of life whose own parents notice the change from the time they went to school in this province, and many of them do not like the foolish way the report cards are marked these days.

I know that there were some who did not like the government examinations because their children could not stand the strain of examinations. These were the very ones who should have had examinations because they were usually poor in their year's work, and naturally would have turned out the same type of work in the finals. I know what I am talking about. The pupils who did good work all through the year came out the same and even higher in the final government examinations, and they did not get a chance to see examination papers either.

I know this for a fact, and in addition they were in senior matric or Victoria College at the age of 16. Once case I can vouch for, because the department, in Dr Willis' days, would not take them into Normal until they were 17, so we had to send one I know well to Victoria College, where she did splendid work. These days they don't go into high school until they are 16 and more. As a result of these recommendations, we produced poor students, and in many cases poor teachers. Many went to Normal with sups., and they did I believe up until very recently. They also went into college with sups. This has been stopped now, I believe, and that is one good move.

THEATRE COURTESY

Sir,—Last night I attended the Royal Theatre. I noticed in front of me about 20 seats unfilled before the curtain went up.

After the play had been going for some time, along came a party who, I should have thought, knew better (if clothes maketh the man).

We hear a lot about the children who don't behave, etc., and I think the least people can do is come in on time and not just stroll in, as if they owned the place, to the inconvenience of other people.

"How about launching a dove over here?"

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A PROPHET finds small honor in his own country, so it's not surprising that a lot of people—including many who don't ever listen to the C.B.C., sneer at its radio offerings.

They prefer, some of them at least, moronic programs imported in cans.

No one, of course, should expect private broadcasters to love their big arrogant rival, although when it comes to quality on the air the C.B.C. has a decided edge over them.

Hence Station Break, a monthly that expounds the private station cause, and C.B.C.-TV in Montreal. TV is not radio, but the first weapon available is the handiest and Station Break attempts great fun at C.B.C. expense. It took a count, it says, of people watching a store window showing of a C.B.C.-TV program, and of people gazing at merchandising displays of, among other things, two shrunken Indian heads.

* * *

And what do you think? The long haired shrunken heads had a better drawing power than the "long hair" C.B.C. musical soiree.

This, surely, is stretching critical license and quite irrelevant to C.B.C. radio shows. Private stations are mad at the C.B.C., of course.

They have good grounds for their ire, albeit not in the matter of program content. The C.B.C. loads the dice against them. It is not only their rival but their boss, a patently absurd and unjust situation.

At the moment the private people are up in arms over a C.B.C. ukase that they must carry a certain percentage of Canadian material on their programs. Why should this irk them so? I should have thought native pride would make them anxious to do just that.

Aren't they concerned with giving Canadians a chance to make the entertainment grade?

Station Break asks "what is Canadian radio material anyway?" If that journal doesn't know I certainly don't, but I presume it has something to do with the point of program origin and the artists who perform.

* * *

The crux of the objection, of course, is that private stations have been ordered to toe this line, and they rightfully resent being compelled by a rival to do its bidding. This is no excuse for talking about Hitlers and Mussolinis, however, and there's too much comparison of this kind extant.

Radio in Canada attempts to reach a happy mean between the British all-government and the American free-sponsorship systems. It's a creditable aim.

Where it falls down badly is in allowing the C.B.C. to be not only a competitor but the arbiter of the whole business. A good analogy is our railroad system, which also combines government and privately owned agencies. It would be preposterous if the C.N.R. could make the rules for both railways, and that is why an impartial board oversees them both.

It is equally preposterous that the C.B.C. should have the power to control its competitors, as it has now, and so long as this state of affairs exists the private stations will have a legitimate complaint against their more powerful rival.

But not over C.B.C. programs, which are far better than many people seem willing to admit.

Reports From Ottawa

WES Stuart is a genial Liberal back-bencher with a permanent windburn from 21 years of fishing sardines and herring in the Bay of Fundy.

He's best known as the only M.P. who ever boasted in the Commons that he was a smuggler, is a smuggler, and always will be a smuggler.

That occurred last year when he launched a one-man fight to force down the prices of manufactured goods by persuading the government to reduce tariffs.

"Living on the international border, and speaking frankly and honestly," said the M.P. from St. Andrews, N.B., "I have smuggled plenty in my lifetime, and will continue to do as long as I live there."

That confession, if it can be called such, overshadowed the point Stuart was trying to make: that Canadian consumers were being severely penalized by protective tariffs, which forced them to pay 95 cents for toothpaste which cost only 60 cents in the United States; 25 cents for soap which was 12½ cents across the line, and $460 for refrigerators which sold for a mere $225 in the States.

* * *

Last week Stuart resumed potshooting at protectionism—encouraged, he said, by Trade Minister Howe's speech at Detroit Nov. 20.

Howe had told the National Industrial Conference Board of the U.S. that both Canada and the U.S. had some "tidying up to do in our own back yard" in connection with restrictions which hamper the free flow of manufactured and agricultural products across the Canadian American boundary.

If by that Howe meant reducing tariffs on American manufactured goods, Stuart agreed heartily.

"Tear the gates down in all the countries within N.A.T.O.," he cried. "We are an exporting nation, and we should be leading the way."

To strengthen his argument, he produced another set of comparative prices: permanent anti-freeze, $3.75 in the U.S. and $5.95 in Canada; electric mixers, $12.95 in the U.S. and $30 in Canada; electric razors, $18 in the U.S. and $29.95 in Canada.

* * *

In Stuart's stand against protected industry—and, incidentally, against government policy—not even the opposition has come to his support. Politically it's not a good issue. If tariffs were cut the way Stuart would slash them, industries which contribute to party campaign funds would make less money; workers in those industries might earn less or even lose their jobs.

Nevertheless, Stuart is looking for supporters. And he's looking in the only places that any are likely to be found: among other Maritime Liberals, and among Prairie Liberals.

The Maritimes and the Prairies get comparatively little benefit from protectionism because they are not highly industrialized. Yet they pay protectionism's penalty of high prices.

In trying to sell his colleagues on the idea of taking a stand in favor of lower tariffs, Stuart has a good argument in the fact that this is a pre-election session of Parliament. Any Maritime or western Grit who will risk a sour look from the government by making a low tariff speech will find that speech mighty handy at election time, when he's seeking to convince the voters that he's been working diligently on their behalf.

Germany to Golub

(From The New York Herald Tribune)

THE "Great Soviet Encyclopedia," official compendium of human knowledge for all good Russians, has now grown to Volume XI, according to word from Moscow. Volume XI concentrates on the G's, running from Germany to Golub, golub being the Russian word for dove. Since the volume has not yet arrived in this country, one can only imagine the contents of these interesting and informative articles. At a guess, one would imagine the dove article to run something like this: "Golub: Bird reputed to have been released by Noah; a character in a novel popular in capitalist countries. Now a symbol of peace, found mostly in Russia. Horribly oppressed elsewhere."

If this seems a bit fanciful, it should be remembered that an article on "Automobile Transport" in another volume of the same work says: "In capitalist countries, the development of automobile transport is hindered by oppressive railroad monopolies and the growing impoverishment of the workers." But probably the compilers of the "Great Soviet Encyclopedia" are entitled to a little sympathy.

A previous edition of the work, completed in 1948 after 22 years' work, has been proscribed because of "crude theoretical and political errors," which occurred when the party line unexpectedly shifted. The compilers of the early edition presumably are now eating their words if, indeed, they are eating anything. So one can hardly blame their successors if they decide to keep the pages of their work open for any last-minute developments.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

A cafe owner in the east has been fined for letting a cat walk on the counter. It is not said what the cat dragged in for the customer.

It is interesting to note from the various 25-years-ago-today columns that any municipalities failing to hold the line on a 5-cent streetcar fare are doomed.

The judge was just about to deliver his summing up of the case when he noticed that there were only 11 men in the jury box. "Where is the 12th juryman?" he asked irritably.

"That's all right, yer honor," the foreman answered genially. "He was called away on business, but he's left his verdict with me."

A placid old lady sat knitting. To her came rushing her 15-year-old granddaughter. "Oh, Granny," cried the girl. "Father's just fallen off the roof!"

"I know, my child," replied the old lady, without raising her eyes. "I saw him pass the window."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

SOLDIERS, sailors and airmen are becoming once more fairly familiar figures standing on the highways waiting for a lift from passing motorists.

A fat friend of mine who is an ardent motorist, but who has never changed a tire in his life and knows less about the insides of his [illegible] about electronics, welcomes the sight of service men on the highways with joy.

"It's a great relief," he says, "to have a husky young soldier or airman in your car, especially if you are worried about one of your tires.

"If I have any choice," he reveals, "I pick up those armoured corps boys in the black berets. They're wonderful. They can change a tire in two minutes. And most of them know all about engines. Some of them are regular skilled motor mechanics. I had some engine trouble one day, and this armoured corps sergeant, after driving with me a few miles, says to me my timer is on the blink. We pulled onto the side of the road, he took a screwdriver and pliers out of my trunk, and in 10 minutes had my engine humming like one of those $10 garage jobs.

* * *

"After a little experience you get to know the right types to pick up. The Army Service Corps men, for instance, most of whom are familiar with cars, have a little patch of yellow backing behind their cap badges. I can spot that at 50 feet. You can also tell by their hands. If they have got white hands, they are usually orderly room or quartermaster's stores types, who probably don't know any more about tires or carburetors than you do. And usually they are just as lazy as you are yourself. Pick up good strong guys, with hard working hands, and you can sail along without a worry in the world."

My fat friend, of course, is an old soldier himself. He used to be an adjutant.

What Not To Do

(From The London Times)

IT is not entirely the fault of the British if their notions about the United States Army are confused, imprecise and liable to inconsequent fluctuations. Hollywood must share some of the blame. One week we see a film which leaves us with the firm impression that all American soldiers are heroes, continually engaged upon forlorn hopes against overwhelming odds, the next week another picture, featuring actors of less romantic type, apparently seeks to persuade us that the American army is an elaborate joke with a coeducational background; and if we are exceptionally unlucky—as were those who attended a recent and much publicized film-show—we may even strike one of those entertainments in which the policy of the High Command is altered (for the better of course) by an enlisted man singing a sentimental song at the general's cocktail party.

* * *

The effect of these vivid but often contradictory impressions is to instil, in those who do not know the American army at first hand, the belief that it is an organization in which almost anything can happen, and it would be idle to pretend that the department of the army has done very much to dispel that belief in a circular instruction which it has just issued from the office of the chief of information. Headed "Undignified Behavior of Military Personnel," this brief and soldierly caveat deals with reports of "various stunts" which have been organized by military units "as part of a fund-raising campaign or drive." "These stunts," notes the circular, more in sorrow than in anger, "have included such spectacles as officers serving breakfast in bed to privates. On one occasion a first sergeant was used as the target in a pie throwing contest."

* * *

The department of the army then gives, under the heading of "What Not To Do," a list of 10 practices against which, in Army Regulation No. 600-10, its face is resolutely set. They include "Enlisted personnel throwing an officer into a swimming-pool," "Officers bathing enlisted personnel," "Officers standing on their head, at the request of enlisted personnel," and "Officers pushing peanuts with their noses down the street for the entertainment of enlisted personnel." Innocent and indeed almost idyllic though these pastimes sound, the department of the army can hardly be expected to take a sympathetic view of them."

There are other and better ways in which an officer can foster esprit de corps than by allowing his men to throw him into a swimming-pool, and true camaraderie degenerates into mere mawkishness if you make a point of scrubbing your soldiers' backs in the bathtub. No one will criticize the stand taken by the department of the army in this matter, the only baffling thing is how these various activities contributed to the raising of funds.

Check of Beacon Due in City Traffic Case

Magistrate H. C. Hall wants to determine whether or not the flashing beacon established on Brotchie Ledge is of sufficient brilliance to attract the attention of a motorist proceeding in a westerly direction in the 500 block on Dallas Road.

The question arose in city police court yesterday morning in continuation of a case involving Victoria police constable Frank B Colli, charged with careless driving.

The charge was laid after an accident on the early morning of last November 4 in which a police patrol car driven by the accused was in collision with a sawdust truck, parked on the north side of Dallas Road outside the home of the truck driver Roy Gibson, 508 Dallas Road.

The accident occurred about 2 a.m. that day. The constable earlier entered a plea of not guilty. He is being defended by George Gregory.

In court yesterday Const. Colli stated he was proceeding west along Dallas Road at about 30 miles an hour, when a flashing light on his left (seaward) attracted his attention. He said he had been driving about eight or 10 feet away from the curb on his side of the road.

He was on patrol duty at the time and was proceeding to the Ogden Point docks area to make routine property checks.

He said the collision with the parked sawdust truck occurred seconds after he had looked to make a check on the flashing light, and that he did not have time to turn out to avoid the collision or apply his brakes.

It had been raining, the streets were wet and the sky was overcast at the time of the accident, the court was told.

NOT BURNING

It was also mentioned that the nearest street light was not burning at the time of the collision, and the next nearest one which was burning was about 150 feet away from the scene.

The constable was not able to say whether the flashing light that had attracted his attention was from the Brotchie Ledge beacon. Weather conditions at the time made it difficult to tell whether the light originated from the sea or from the shoreline.

Mr. Gibson, who said he had parked his truck in front of his home and was in bed asleep at the time of the accident, said none of the truck lights had been left on. There was a reflector, he stated, located beneath the box of the vehicle and about three or four feet "inside" the rear of the sawdust box.

Magistrate Hall expressed interest in the evidence dealing with the flashing light, particularly the possibility it originated from the Brotchie Ledge beacon. He remanded the case until December 10, and asked that in the meantime a check be made of that beacon light.

Along with the defense counsel and other interested persons, he will make a check of that aid to navigation, such a check to be made at approximately the same time the accident occurred and at a time when weather conditions will closely parallel those existing at the time of the collision.

The court was also told the truck was a "dirty yellow" color with a large portion of its rear covered by a coiled, dark, six-inch diameter pipe used by the truck in blowing sawdust from the box.

Const. Brian Ferguson said an investigation of the truck immediately after the accident disclosed the tail light had been smashed in the collision, but that it would have been obscured from view by the coiled pipe attached to the rear of the vehicle.

The word "protein" is derived from the Greek word "proteios," meaning primary.

Pets for Christmas Presents Should Be Well Considered

BY ROBERT MAGGS
Inspector-Manager, Victoria S.P.C.A.

Christmas is only a few weeks away, and people are wondering what to get for their children or [illegible] Quite a number of you good folk will hit on the bright idea of getting little Susie or Bobbie a puppy or a kitten, to which I say "good idea."

Every child should have a pet, preferably one that can grow up with them. But and this is a big "but"—before you present little Susie or Bobbie with a pet, stop and consider two very important things.

First the child may be a perfect little angel in lots of ways and yet be the type that would give a pet a bad time by dragging it around or mishandling it. The second thing to consider is: are the child's parents animal-minded people, especially mother, because in most cases it is she who has to take care of the house-training, feeding, etc., of the animals in the household.

Give it serious thought, and if there is any doubt in your mind as to the care such a pet will receive, it would be better to buy one that winds up. When the mechanized type of "pet" is treated too roughly it breaks and that is all there is to it. But I have seen some pretty sad cases of pets given to children, with every good intention, who would have been far better off dead.

T.W.—Q.—Does the father animal ever look after the young?

A.—Sometimes. As soon as a baby marmoset is born, for instance, the mother hands it to the father. It is he who does all the soothing and petting and baby sitting, everything except the nursing, and Mama marmoset attends to that only as often as is essential.

P.L.T.—Q.—Is a bat classed as an animal, and if so is it the only one that can fly?

A.—Yes, it is a true animal, and the only one known that can fly. There are animals called "flying this or that" but actually they are only equipped for soaring or gliding, such as "flying" squirrels.

Mr. G.—Q.—How can I stop my 10-month-old labrador from jumping up on people?

A.—The method used by Mr. Hudson in his Victoria dog obedience training course is very effective. As the dog jumps up at you push him sharply in the chest by raising your knee abruptly as he jumps. The dog discovers he is thrown off balance whenever he jumps up but he does not realize that you are causing it, since he is looking higher up, at your face, and doesn't see your knee come up.

Mr. D.—Q.—Can a deer outrun a cheetah?

A.—No, the cheetah has been clocked up to 70 miles an hour, and the deer's top speed is about 45 miles.

ANIMAL QUESTION BOX

Mr. J.T.T.—Q.—Are a harrier and a foxhound the same thing, and which is the smallest breed of the hound family?

A.—No, while the harrier looks much like the foxhound, it is not descended from that breed. The ancient Greeks used the harrier for hunting purposes. The chief difference is in the size. The harrier is not as fast nor as gentle in disposition as the foxhound.

The beagle hound is the smallest of the hound family. He is used chiefly for hunting rabbits, and is noted for keen scent and bell-like melody of voice.

Miss J.Y.—Q.—Do wolves and dogs inter-breed?

A.—Occasionally, but their progeny is never able to breed.

B.W.D.—Q.—You have enlightened me as to a "Dudley-nosed" dog, but can you tell me, what is a "merle"-colored dog?

A.—It is a bluish grey with some black intermingled, i.e. sort of marbled effect.

Grain Prices

WINNIPEG, Dec 3 (CP).—Prices closed irregularly but generally lower in dull trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Commercial demand was limited, with only routine shipper purchases in oats and barley.

Flax received support from exporters and industrial interests. Rye trade was local throughout. Both grains, however, closed lower.

There was no information on export loadings of Canadian wheat.

Prices for top grades of Class Two and I.W.A. wheat lost one-eighth cent from Tuesday.

Sharp Drop In Shares Of B.C. Mines

MONTREAL, Dec. 3 (CP).—[illegible] mines and western oils. The trend was lower.

Feature of the western oils section was Empire Oils and Minerals which dropped 23 cents to $1.33 on turnover of 106,900 shares.

In mines Western Tungsten was off 45 cents at $3.50 after touching a new low of $2.40. Other mines and western oils were easier and losses ranged around 25 cents.

On the industrial side, the weakness was shared by papers, senior metals, steel and miscellaneous industrials.

Ogilvie Flour fell two points and point dips were recorded by Algoma Steel, Robert Mitchell and Canada Cement. International Paper added a point for the only major upward movement.

Utilities, beverages, carriers and senior oils were mixed. Bank of Nova Scotia gained a major fraction.

Golds Stay Firm

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (CP) Most prices moved steadily downward from a mixed market opening but golds and western oils held.

Higher-priced base metals lost as Hudson Bay slipped and most other issues followed. Dominion Asbestos, however, added 11 cents in a turnover of 36,000 shares. Western Tungsten dropped $1.30 during the first hour but recovered to close with a loss of 40 cents.

Weakness in utilities and steels led the industrials downward and Shawinigan Power dropped $1.

Western oil gains ranged to 15 cents and losses generally to about 25 cents although Britalta lost 40 cents. Sweet Grass gained pennies in a turnover of 65,000 shares.

Senior golds turned firm at the close after fluctuating during the session and Dome added three eighths of a point. Junior producers slipped as East Malartic and Powell Rouyn turned lower. Campbell Red Lake added 50 cents.

Pressure From East

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3. A setback in the price of Western Tungsten created a considerable drop in the market's base metal index.

Western Tungsten slumped to 2.75 on selling pressure from the east but closed stronger at 3.35, down 50 cents on the day.

There was little change in other mines although Reeves McDonald lost 25 cents at 2.75.

New Continental, Del Rio, and Central Leduc were lower among oils.

Canadian Western Lumber gained 25 cents at 8.75 and MacMillan and Bloedel and Powell River were steady.

Car Insurance Cost Remedies Varied

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Lower operating costs by insurance companies, abolition of sub-agents where possible, and a tighter watch on repair estimates, have all been suggested as remedies for the ever-increasing premiums motorists are being asked to pay for car insurance.

Another step to ease the burden was taken by the [illegible] underwriters this week. They agreed to establish a new graded scale of payment whereby those drivers with good records will be charged a lower premium than those who have had accidents or have made claims in the three preceding years.

This policy of segregating the sheep from the goats has the commendable effect of putting a premium on careful driving, but as an insurance man rightly points out, the concession given to one section of the driving public must be at the expense of someone else.

For instance if the careful drivers are in the majority, as surveys show them to be, then premium payments in the automobile insurance business will be so reduced that a higher general rate will become necessary.

The Dominion underwriters suggest that a 20 per cent discount should be allowed on all policies written in favor of those who have not made claims in the past three years.

The 20 per cent discount however, would only be on that part of the policy covering public liability and property damage and not on collision, fire, or theft. In other words more than half of the policy would continue to be charged at the standard rate, so that the gross concession to the "favored" driver would not be 20 per cent discount but something under 10 per cent.

As the onus will also be on the insurance companies to prove that the person seeking insurance has been clear of accidents for the three previous years, the difficulties of putting the scheme into operation increase.

Indeed it would appear that the system of no claims bonus, in which the insured person gets a progressive 5 per cent discount for every year he makes no claim provided he does not change his insurance seems the much more sensible policy. It is also the one adopted by at least one Canadian company at present and by the majority of British companies in the United Kingdom.

Meantime, discount or no discount, it is certain that next year automobile policies will cost more than they have done in 1952.

MINERS BREAK RECORDS

Mining in Canada will set two new records this year, according to the annual review published by the Northern Miner.

There will be new highs in production volume and also in dividends paid by mining companies.

A third record that of production value may also be set. This will exceed $1,000,000,000 for the third successive year, and despite lower prices for lead, zinc and other metals it may also surpass the 1951 record of $1,228,000,000.

Dividends paid by metal mines will exceed $144,500,000 which is $1,000,000 more than the 1951 record.

Outstanding features are the new record for zinc production and gains in nickel and lead production.

A new record is in sight also for asbestos, valued at $90,000,000.

The review believes that next [illegible] Canada's most valuable mineral. In 1952 oil production made a gain of $28,000,000.

Cominco's three new mines, all now producing, is hailed as British Columbia's chief contribution to mining progress. The only dull spot is in gold. Production here will rise but production value will drop $5,000,000 and gold dividends will be down by $2,000,000 from the 1951 level.

Uranium provided most prospecting activity in 1952 and will probably continue to do so in 1953.

The Northern Miner takes an optimistic view of the future.

It says, "Lower metal prices may retard the progress in the near future but such a setback would be only temporary. The industry will continue to grow bigger."

SMELTERS PAY LESS

A final quarterly payment of 40 cents together with an extra dividend of 35 cents was announced yesterday by Con[illegible]

This makes a total payment for the year of $1.65 a share. Last year Smelters paid $11 a share but since then the stock has been split five-for-one. This year the corresponding dividend is $8.25.

* * *

DIVIDEND OMITTED

For the third quarter in succession directors of International Bronze Powders have omitted a common stock dividend payment. The only payment on the common stock was a dividend of 20 cents last April.

Dividends Declared

Consolidated Mining and Smelting 50 cents plus 15 cents extra Jan 15 record Dec 10 ex-div Dec 12.

[illegible] Life Assurance 50 cents plus 50 cents extra payable Jan 1 record Dec 10, ex-div Dec 15. (Making 1.00 for 1952 against 1.00.)

Canada Must Break Down U.S. Barriers, Says Banker

HALIFAX, Dec 3 (CP). H. L. Enman, president of the Bank of Nova Scotia today urged that Canada turn more of her raw materials into finished goods before selling them in other countries.

Addressing the bank's annual meeting, he said:

"United States tariffs still are critical barriers to the development of the further manufacture of our basic resources. . . .

"The recent proposal by a large United States corporation to take water from Canadian territory and run it into Alaska to make power and aluminum, at a time when Canada is greatly enlarging her aluminum capacity and wishes to arrange for a larger market in the U.S., is a good example of the kind of subordinate relationship which we must endeavor to avoid.

"We cannot expect Americans or anyone else but Canadians to think in terms of Canadian interests.

"If we wish to promote a healthy and well-based industrial development in Canada, we shall have to continue to exert pressure on our neighbors in every reasonable way to take a growing proportion of the basic materials from us in processed and fabricated forms."

$30,000,000 To Be Spent By Noranda

TORONTO, Dec 3 (CP)—Noranda Mines Ltd., big northern Quebec mining corporation, has completed arrangements for $30,000,000 of financing for new projects now under way.

The financing, says James Y. Murdoch, president, will provide funds for the new sulphur-iron plant to be built in Ontario's Niagara Peninsula; to lend funds to the subsidiary Gaspe Copper Mines Ltd. for its copper project in Quebec's Gaspe Peninsula, and to lend funds to a new company, in which Noranda will have a 51-per cent interest, which will bring into production the zinc-pyrite property acquired from MacDonald Mines Ltd., in northern Quebec's Rouyn district.

Probe Starts On Empire Oils

MONTREAL, Dec 3 (CP).—The Montreal Curb Market today launched an investigation of trading in shares of Empire Oils & Minerals, Inc., to determine whether there have been any violations of the curb's trading regulations."

The announcement followed a $2.50 plunge Tuesday by the stock to an all-time low of $1.55 on sales of 100,000 shares. The issue slipped another 13 cents a share when trading opened today.

A statement from Jacques Forget, chairman of the curb, said trading transactions in the stock are "being investigated to see if there have been any violations of the curb's trading regulations." It did not elaborate.

Market officials said trading in the stock will be continued until the results of the inquiry are known.

Strength in Oils

NEW YORK, Dec 3 (AP)—A moderate decline in the stock market was eased by strength in oils and a wide list of individual issues.

The fall uncovered an area of weakness in the list and was considered to be a simple corrective reaction of limited extent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 40 cents and stood at $112.10. The decline was the second greatest since the current boom in the bull market started just before the election of Eisenhower.

Curb stocks were pretty generally mixed with trading amounting to 540,000 shares, the same as Tuesday.

London Stock Prices

LONDON, Dec. 3 (Reuters)—Foreign bonds were again the most active section on the stock exchange today. Japanese bonds gained up to 1½ points while Germans improved up to a point.

Government securities were generally maintained. Initial interest in industrials dwindled somewhat and leaders were inclined to sag.

South African gold shares were firmer but coppers lost ground and oils were irregular.

B.C. Well Strikes New Zone

EDMONTON, Dec 3 (CP).—Pacific Petroleums Ltd. and Associates report a big natural gas strike at their Pacific-Fort St. John No. 12 well in the southeast sector of the Fort St. John field in north-eastern British Columbia.

The gas flow rated in excess of 6,000,000 cubic feet daily in testing of a formation between 6,316 and 6,338 feet. The well had previously flowed gas at an approximate rate of 3,000,000 cubic feet daily from the upper triassic. No. 12 now is coring below 6,406 feet.

Calgary Cattle

CALGARY, Dec 3 (CP)—Trading continued active and prices firm to higher on the Calgary livestock market today. On offer were 1,333 cattle and calves including 750 head held over.

Hogs dropped 14 cents Tuesday at 27.70 and sows were steady at 18. Good lambs gained 50 cents at 20-22.25 and good ewes were steady at 9-9.

Veterans of France maintained their two-point lead in the Victoria and District Basketball Association's Senior "B" League by trimming Chinese Students, 37-30, at the Esquimalt gym last night.

Butler's Aces kept pace by roaring from behind in the final quarter to edge Arrow Furniture, 40-38, at Victoria High.

Vets were never behind against the Students, who rallied in the fourth quarter, but found a 28-16 deficit too hard to overcome as they went down to their fifth straight defeat.

Jack Northup topped the winners with 10 points while Reggie Derr of Students led all scorers with 12, seven in the final quarter.

GREAT COMEBACK

Aces made a great comeback against the Furnituremen. Trailing 31-25 going into the final quarter, the winners overhauled Arrows in the waning minutes and a foul shot by Whitey Turner clinched the victory.

Turner was high for the winners with 11 points while Ron Castner and Jim Ranson shared honors for Arrows with nine points each.

In other games at Victoria High, First United dropped a 36-18 decision to Eagles in a bantam boys' contest despite a 14-point stand by Waldo Skillings, junior. Tillicums downed First United, 26-15, in a midget boys' contest.

At Esquimalt gym, St. Louis College trounced Vampires, 60-44 in a juvenile boys' battle.

Big Price Set For Return Of Franchise

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—Baltimore was offered a franchise and the Dallas Texans team in the National Football League Wednesday if it will buy $250,000 worth of season tickets by January 22.

The deal, by which Baltimore can get back a franchise it gave up two years ago, was explained by league commissioner Bert Bell. He said sale of the tickets within six weeks is the only string attached.

It was estimated it will take 19,000 season ticket sales to raise the $250,000 required to complete the deal. The most Baltimore has ever sold is 6,500. Bell said only about two of the present active members in the league, Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, had sold about 15,000 in advance this season.

Dallas, which obtained a franchise from New York Yankees this year, forfeited it before finishing the season. The team is finishing the schedule under the commissioner's direction.

Fined for Fraud

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 3 (Reuters)—Sweden's interior minister, Gunnar Hedlund, and his wife have been tried in secret and fined for an income-tax fraud, it was disclosed today. Hedlund was fined $140 and his wife $56 for failing to declare income from a farm owned by Mrs. Hedlund in 1950.

How to Beat Yankees? Stengel Tells Secret

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 3 (AP).—Tip to Hank Greenberg, general manager of Cleveland Indians:

Wanna beat the Yankees for the pennant next year? Let Casey Stengel, the guy who stopped you four years in a row, tell you how.

"Nothing to it," says the cagy skipper of New York's world champions. "If you want to beat us, just make a trade with us. No fooling. Look at all the good players we gave away to other clubs in trades in recent years—Bob Porterfield, Jackie Jensen, Frank Shea, Tammy Byrne, Duane Pillette.

"That Greenberg pops off now he hates the Yankees and wants his players to do likewise. Does he think his Indians can win the pennant by hating us? No sir.

"Know how Celeveland can win the pennant? By getting some of our players. That's how simple it is. If you can't lick 'em, get 'em on your side."

Ellis New Tide Coach; Navy Team Joins Loop

Victoria Crimson Tide will have a new coach for its second McKechnie Cup rugby game against Vancouver Lions at Macdonald Park.

Dick Ellis, playing coach of Oak Bay Wanderers, has been named to take over the coaching duties from Derek Hyde-Lay, who is tied up with other commitments at present and is not able to devote all the time needed for the chore.

Dave McKenzie will be the backfield coach with Ellis paying particular attention to the scrum.

SEEK DATE CHANGE

Date of the contest has not as yet been decided. Officials of the Victoria Rugby Union have written to the B.C. body requesting a change in date. The contest was scheduled for Boxing Day but local officials hope to change the date to Saturday, December 27.

Victoria Rugby Union has also granted permission for a team from Navy to enter the first division after first half play is completed. Navy's entry will expand the loop to five teams with the sailors expected to come up with a challenging club.

WEEK-END GAMES

Two winning streaks will go on the block in league play on Saturday. J.B.A.A.'s first division squad will be seeking its seventh straight victory and eighth of the season when it meets Crusaders on the lower pitch at Macdonald Park.

Oak Bay Wanderers, in second place, five points behind the Oarsmen, tangle with the winless Victoria College Vikings at Upper Macdonald Park. College has tied three of its last four games.

In second division play, J.B.A.A. will be out to extend its victory skein to six straight when it tackles Wanderers-Crusaders at Windsor Park. Shawnigan Lake School plays College in the other game at the College grounds.

All games start at 2.30 p.m.

Now It's Official

CEC GARRIOTT

It's now official that Garriott will be back as manager of Victoria Tyees next season. Business manager Reg Patterson yesterday announced from Phoenix, where both are attending meetings of National Association of Professional Minor Leagues, that Garriott had signed contract and will return to attempt to pilot Tyees to second straight Western International League title.

Civic Group Purchases W.I.L. Club

Outside of the report that Cece Garriott had signed to manage Victoria Tyees again next season, there was little Western International League news yesterday.

The Tri-City Athletic Association announced that it had purchased the Tri-City Browns for $26,000 and will operate the club in the W.I.L. next season. All stock was purchased from general manager Dick Richards and notes were given to the other major stockholders, who own one seventh interest.

Tri-City fans collected $12,000 toward the purchase. The association will start another drive to raise $28,000 to provide working capital and to pay off some of the notes.

Wenatchee Chiefs made the only other news with the announcement that catcher Walt Porekay has been sold to San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League.

Racing Card Shuffled At Bowie

BOWIE, Md., Dec. 3 (AP)—Bowie resumed horse racing today with the smallest crowd of the Maryland fall season to watch Mrs. Jacob M. Lingle's Larry Ellis win the $10,000 Old Dominion Handicap by a whisker and over a foul claim.

The crowd of 5,803 bet only $532,958, the least for one day at any of the three mile tracks in the state this fall.

Yesterday's cancellation forced another reshuffling of Bowie's remaining stakes. The $7,500 Breeders for two-year-olds born in Maryland is on tap tomorrow with eight entries.

If Bowie is able to run the rest of this week it will have six days plus six races due to be run by December 13. The six races are left over from the original opening day, November 17, when only the first two events were held before poor condition of the track forced the program to be cut short.

In order to fit in the 54 remaining races by the scheduled December 13 closing it will be necessary to run nine races instead of the usual eight, every day next week.

Leafs in Need, May Recall Bill Ezinicki

TORONTO, Dec. 3 (CP)—Manager Conn Smythe of the National Hockey League Maple Leafs may recall forward Bill Ezinicki from Pittsburgh Hornets.

Smythe, who vowed Ezinicki "would never play for Leafs again," when he shipped him to the American Hockey League club, is taking steps to bolster his sagging squad before the next game Thursday at Montreal.

He announced Wednesday transfer of Hugh Bolton to Ottawa Senators of the Quebec League and said he may use his last recall to bring in a player from Hornets.

If Smythe refrains from dipping into the Pittsburgh barrel he may call up a junior from Toronto Marlboros for a three-game trial.

Maureen Connolly in Final

MELBOURNE, Dec. 4 (Thursday) (AP)—Maureen Connolly, American and Wimbledon champion, has entered the finals of the Victorian tennis tournament with 6-4, 6-1 victory over Australia's Mary Hawton.

Mrs. Hawton, strictly a baseline player, was no match for the American girl, who broke her rival's service three times in both sets in Thursday morning's play. Maureen herself dropped two services in the first set.

Young Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad of Australia yesterday upset Mervyn Rose and Don Candy in the semi-finals of men's doubles. They saved two match points and went on to win, 10-8, 3-6, 6-3, 4-6, 11-9. Rose and Candy are seeded as Australia's second doubles pair.

Rosewall and Hoad will meet defending champions Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor in the final Friday.

Vic Seixas, American Davis Cup captain, will meet McGregor and Sedgman plays Rose in men's singles semi-finals today.

Miss Connolly yesterday partnered Julie Sampson of San Marino, Calif., to defeat Helen Angwin and Gwen Thiele, 6-2, 6-4, in women's doubles semi-finals. They will meet Mrs. Hawton and Beryl Penrose, who eliminated Pam Southcombe and Carmel Borelli, 6-3, 6-4.

Next game, tonight: Tacoma at Saskatoon.

Victoria Cougars dropped back into the Western Hockey League cellar again last night when they blew a two-goal lead at Seattle and bowed to the Bombers, 5-3.

Edmonton Flyers took over seventh spot when they cashed in on penalties to whip Tacoma Rockets, 4-1, at Edmonton. It was Tacoma's first loss on the road in nine starts.

It was Cougar's 10th straight defeat on the road and 11th in 12 games, their only victory on the road coming at New Westminster on October 18 when they took over first place. Their over-all record since that date is four victories, 14 defeats and one tie.

Seattle's victory was its third straight and also the third in a row over the Cougars on Seattle ice.

TWO QUICK GOALS

The line-up change, forced by the departure of Reg Abbott to Montreal Canadiens, looked good in the first period as the newly formed combination of Ed Dornhoy, Andy Hebenton and Ed Mazur struck for two goals in 25 seconds to give the Cougars a 2-0 lead. But they could not hold it.

George Pargeter, who paced the Seattle attack with two goals, reduced the deficit before the end of the period and Bombers went ahead 3-2 on goals by Rudy Filion and Lorne Nadeau in the second period. Nadeau's goal completed a Seattle power play just 10 seconds after Ivan Irwin returned from the penalty box to put the Cougars back at full strength.

DESPERATE BATTLE

Rookie Doug Macauley scored what proved to be the winner early in the final period but Cougars fought back desperately. Jim Fairburn made it 4-2 midway through the period but Pargeter broke away alone, feinted goalie Gerry Cotnoir out of position and scored in the open net to clinch the decision with little more than a minute left.

Bombers played without veteran John Bailey, who was sold to New Westminster Royals earlier in the day. Bailey's departure virtually erases any possibility of a Victoria-Seattle deal which had been rumored prevalent.

Cougars will complete a busy schedule of five games in six nights by meeting Royals at Memorial Arena tomorrow and Rockets at Tacoma Saturday.

PENALTIES COSTLY

At Edmonton a crowd of 3,200 saw the Flyers outshoot Rockets, 36-20, but take advantage of a manpower edge twice to down the Tacomans.

Ray Ramlan put Flyers ahead while [illegible] was doing penance in the first period and Larry Zeidel made it 2-0 while Buck Jones was in the penalty box in the second session.

Gordie Kerr notched the Tacoma goal unassisted late in the second period but Earl Reibel scored the clincher with both teams a man short late in the third and Earl Johnson added an insurance marker after Rockets had pulled goalie Doug Stevenson in the final minute.

Next games, tonight: Toronto at Montreal; New York at Detroit; Chicago at Boston.

Chicago Black Hawks rallied for three goals in the final period to come from behind and defeat New York Rangers, 5-3, in a National Hockey League game at New York last night.

The victory gave Hawks a total of 13 of a possible 26 points on the road and boosted their league lead to five points over the second-place Detroit Red Wings. It was Chicago's fifth successive game without defeat.

The teams spent the greater part of the game attempting to even old scores. The body checking was hard and a number of fights broke out with a near free-for-all in the second period.

BEST BOUT

Gus Bodnar, who scored the winning goal in the third period, and Ranger defenseman Steve Kraftcheck staged the best bout late in the second period when they tangled near the Chicago bench with other players joining in. Bodnar and Kraftcheck were each given major penalties while Jay Buller of Rangers and Bill Gadsby of Hawks drew majors.

Paul Ronty, who scored twice and assisted on the third Ranger goal, put Rangers ahead when he deflected a shot by Leo Reise after two minutes. Hawk coach Sid Abel tied it up three minutes later while Rangers were shorthanded.

Gerry Couture put Hawks in front early in the second period but Neil Strain took a pass from Ronty to tie it up again eight minutes later.

Ronty came through again to put Rangers ahead, 3-2 early in the third frame but Hawks battled back with goals by Fred Glover, Bodnar and Jim Peters to sew it up.

STRAIN MISSES

Strain came close to tying the score for the fourth time midway through the final period but his shot hit the post with goalie Al Rollins well beaten.

Ronty's three points boosted him into sixth place in the individual scoring race while linemate Wally Hergesheimer picked up two assists to vault to third place. Detroit's Gordie Howe leads with 26 points while Hergesheimer has 23 and Ronty 19.

Showboats Vanishing Type of Player; Pantomime Once Gave Johnson Victory

By British United Press

The death a few days ago of Arlie Latham brings to mind a vanishing type of baseball player —the fellow who could draw laughs as well as cheers from the fans.

Arlie was a comedian in spikes as an infielder with St. Louis of [illegible] later with Cincinnati in the National League. There were others, of course, notably Nick Altrock, Germany Schaefer and Al Schacht.

All were pretty fair ball players, too, though you wouldn't find many managers who would have given a Robin Roberts for Altrock, who reached the 20-game circle only twice in 21 years. Or, say a Jackie Robinson for Schaefer, who only hit .300 twice in a long career.

Still, they were definite assets, the fans loved them. Once in a while, their showboating actually won ball games.

VITAL VICTORY

One of Altrock's favorite stories—and he has a lot of them—is how he brought the Washington Senators a vital victory. He won it with a trick that would make Notre Dame's "off-side" football shift look Sunday school stuff.

Altrock's "specialty" was a shadow-boxing routine he picked up in Kansas City. At that time, Altrock saw a movie in which Johnny Kilbane did some fancy shadow boxing.

The next day Kansas City was playing a doubleheader with Milwaukee. Altrock customarily went out between games to field bunts around first base. This time, he suddenly thought of Kilbane and started to shadow box around the bag.

The crowd roared and Altrock knocked himself down. Then he knocked himself "out" and panicked them by getting up and [illegible]

POLISHED UP ACT

Everybody enjoyed it, and Charley Carr, the Kansas City manager, told Altrock to polish up the act and use it on other days.

By the time Altrock went to the Senators in June of 1912, he had the shadow boxing act down to a fine pantomime. However, he didn't unveil the act just then.

Not too long after Altrock joined Washington, the Senators moved into Cleveland for an important game.

Vean Gregg, a 23-game winner the year before, was on the mound for Cleveland. It didn't take long for the Senators to [illegible]

Washington had a pretty good pitcher going too, a fellow named Walter Johnson and the big train was also having a fine day.

The game was scoreless in the first, second, third and fourth innings, with neither team getting a loud foul.

As Johnson took the mound in the fifth, Altrock sat slumped in the dugout, wondering if anyone was ever going to get to Gregg. On the dugout steps, catcher Dorf Ainsmith and Germany Schaefer were watching Johnson mow down the Cleveland hitters.

RIGHT SPOT

"Sure wish Giggles would have 'nother one of his fits," said Schaefer.

Altrock looked up. "Yep," Schaefer went on, "if we could ever get ol' Gigglin' Gregg to break down, we'd be in, 'way Walter's pitching."

Altrock, always a man for an angle, quickly got the details. Gregg it seemed, was noted for his uncontrolable fits of mirth.

That was enough for Altrock. He told manager Clark Griffith "Get a man on first and I'll show you something."

The next inning, the first Washington hitter went down but Chick Gandil coaxed a walk. Down in the coaching box, Altrock elaborately squared off and went into his shadow boxing act, which drew first a titter, then a roar from the stands.

UNMOLESTED

Gregg looked over, grinned, then began to laugh. Altrock kept flailing away and Gregg kept laughing. Gandil didn't wait for an engraved invitation. He tore down to second, and with Gregg doubled over with mirth, made it without a throw.

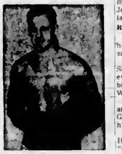

Joe Birmingham, the Cleveland manager, stormed down on Altrock. So did the umpires. Altrock was told to cut it out. Gregg got hold of himself and took the mound. He looked at first—there was Altrock, looking up and counting stars. Gregg broke down again.

"I don't care if I throw another ball this game," he howled, "just put on that act again."

He finally got one across and Ainsmith sent it screaming off the left field wall for a double to score Gandil. That did it. Washington breezed over four runs and Johnson coasted to victory.

Maybe in even these days of straight-away baseball, an Altrock would come in handy.

World's Best

EMIL ZATOPEK

Czechoslovakia's triple winner at 1952 Olympic Games, Zatopek has been voted world's top athlete in poll of leading sports authorities conducted by World Sports, official magazine of British Olympic Association. Zatopek polled 63 votes against 22 for Bob Mathias, winner of Olympic decathlon. Next came Australian sprinter, Marjorie Jackson, with 14 points, Davis Cup ace Frank Sedgman with 13 and tennis queen Maureen Connolly with eight.

Minor Baseball Leagues Vote Today On Bonus Rule, Recall, TV Problems

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 3 (AP).—Baseball's minor leagues have cleared the decks for important votes on the bonus rule, 24-hour recall and radio-television problems.

The only important news out [illegible] minor leagues convention Wednesday was a recommendation of the realignment committee that franchises be issued for a definite term of years and not on a perpetual basis.

Frank Lane, general manager of Chicago White Sox and chairman of the realignment group, also suggested the minor concentrate on promoting cities over 100,000 to build stadiums.

The real fights will come behind closed doors at today's executive session when 47 amendments and two resolutions came [illegible]

TWO PROPOSALS

Two new bonus rules will be considered — one proposed by the major-minor executive council and one by New York Yankees through their Kansas City farm club.

The idea is to put teeth in a rule that would discourage big bonus payments to untried free agents.

In a nutshell, the council plans to limit movement of any free agent who gets more than $4,000 for signing a big league contract. The Yankee plan restores the old $6,000 ceiling voted out a few years ago.

The Yankee plan also provides for bigger fines for violations.

Although most league presidents refused to indicate which way his league will vote, there was strong trend toward the executive council idea.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson, president of the Western League, came up with a new approach to the radio-TV problem. As chairman of a three-man committee, he suggested all revenue from radio and TV, both major and minor, obtained from stations outside a club's own territory 50 miles, be paid into a trust fund.

The trust fund, administered by a committee of major and minor leaguers, would distribute the money among minor league clubs.

The senator's plan, however, is only a resolution that merely expresses the minors sentiments on a disturbing situation. It is likely the minors will vote overwhelmingly in its favor but the majors may never get around to considering it.

Shields Leads Havana Open On Sub-Par 66

HAVANA, Dec. 3 (AP) Jack Shields, a relative newcomer to United States professional golf, led 30 of his colleagues today in the first round of the 72-hole Havana Invitation Open tournament with a six-under par 66.

The 31 year old native of Tulsa Okla., stroked the first nine in a five-under-par 32 and then came home one under to lead his nearest rivals by two strokes over the par-72 course.

The runner-up group numbered Dutch Harrison, Al Besselink, Toney Penna and Jim Ferrier.

Marty Furgol and Ted Kroll each, was three under par, but their 69s left them tied for sixth place.

Jack Burke and Bill Nary were bracketed with 70s.

Herman Barron, Pete Cooper, Doug Ford and Bob Hamilton also broke par. They finished the first round with 71s.

Richer Purses For Prairie Racing Meets

WINNIPEG, Dec. 3 (CP).—A record purse distribution of $655,900 has been announced for 81 days of racing in 1953 on Prairie circuits at Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina.

Announcement of the new purse schedule, an increase of $65,100 over last year, was made today by the R. James Speers Corporation Ltd., following a recent meeting with a delegation from the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, Prairie division and the Western Canadian fairs.

The meeting also raised purses for the West's three major breeders' stakes. The Canadian Derby will be increased to $10,000 added from $5,000; the Winnipeg Futurity to $4,000 from $2,000; and the Alberta Derby to $5,000 added from $3,000.

Rugby Series For Schools Set Saturday

University School will host St. George's School of Vancouver in the fifth annual Harker-Privett Trophy rugby series at University School grounds on Saturday.

It is the biggest event of the year on the school sports program with more than 60 players and a like number of supporters making the trip from the Mainland.

Three games are scheduled for the afternoon. The schools' colt teams tangle in the first game at 1.45 p.m. followed by a battle between the second teams from each school.

University School and St. George's meet in a rep team match at 3 p.m. to decide the Harker-Privett Trophy. St. George's is the defending champion but University School holds a series lead with two victories and a draw in four starts.

Sure Scheme For Punters —Illegal

OAKLANDS, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP).—A sure-fire way to beat the horses was being investigated today by the Alameda county grand jury. The trouble with the system is—it's illegal.

District attorney J. F. Coakley said at least four persons had illegally collected $3,250 on uncashed pari-mutuel tickets after the 1949-51 spring meetings at Golden Gate fields.

The state horse racing board became suspicious and stopped paying the claims when an unusual amount—$1,000—was filed from the same areas of Oakland and Berkeley after the 1952 meeting.

Coakley said the scheme worked like this:

A former track employee who had access to all the information necessary to cash the tickets supplied the data to other members of the ring. They then filed claims for the money with the board.

More than $200,000 a year in unclaimed winnings revert to the state from California tracks. But a person who loses his ticket can claim his money within 90 days after a meeting closes by filing an affidavit with the board.

When the grand jury finishes its investigation, Coakley said, charges of conspiracy to commit grand and petty theft would be filed against members of the ring.

Player Draft Sets New Low

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 3 (AP).—The minor baseball leagues ended their player draft Wednesday with a total of 116 selections for $236,100, a low in the four-year history of the open draft.

As the majors selected 11 players for $120,000 Monday, the week-long total of players drafted was 127 for $356,100.

A year ago the minors picked 162 for $315,000 and the majors 18 for $169,000. However, the major and minor drafts were not held at the same meeting last year.

The record was set in 1949 the first year, when 222 players were drafted for $449,050.

Golf--- Here's How

BY SAM SNEAD

Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Your weight in the fast third of your downswing should have passed pretty largely to the left leg as pictured here and you're at the point now where the uncocking of your wrists is featured. From the point where you see this clubhead you pour your hands and wrists rhythmically into the shot. The reason you keep your hands and wrists out of the shot until they are in the position pictured, or just a trifle, before, is that if you uncock the wrists higher up you will have spent the power they add to the swing in the empty air and not upon the ball which is where you want it. The hand action is the tiger that adds power to the swing. But hold that tiger until you are in the position pictured. Then rhythmically pour the power in. This is where good players get that added yardage.

Normal School Trips Teachers

Normal School racked up its sixth straight exhibition basketball victory of the season yesterday by trouncing Pedigogs, a team composed of Greater Victoria school teachers, 55-37, at Normal School.

Pedigogs held the winners to a 24-20 first-half lead but faded badly in the final two quarters.

Don Sherry paced the winners with eight points while Ken Wright and Evan Oakley shared scoring honors for Pedigogs with 11 points apiece.

Lineups follow:

Normal—Garner 7, Watson 9, Sherry 10, Milburn 9, Bryant 1, Paul 2, Clarkson 4, Luvisotto 4, Cochrane 3, Whalley 6. Total 55.

Pedigogs—Hartley, Jones, Wright 11, Oakley 11, Horne 9, Glover 8. Total—37.

Frank Bendall Setting Pace In Pin Classic

Frank Bendall is setting an early pace in the second round of the Capital City Fivepin Singles Classic.

Bendall tops the league with 49 points, a one-point edge over Fred Middleton. Don Corbett, winner of the first round, is fifth with 45. He leads the averages with 275, a five-point bulge over Bendall.

Cy Wallis, the only kegler bowling from scratch, is well down the list with 24 points and an average of 222.

Aids Games Fund

VANCOUVER, Dec. 3 (CP).—The City of North Vancouver has pledged $2,500 toward Vancouver's British Empire Games expenses, games secretary Colin Lowery announced Wednesday.

In addition, the North Vancouver city council will recommend to next year's council that equal donations be made in 1953 and 1954, the year the games will be held here.

Less than 40 per cent of the domestic wood requirements of the United States is grown there.

Brand New Ice Show Expensive Spectacle

When the Ice Cycles arrive at the Memorial Arena to appear from January 12 to 17, Victorians will see $1,000,000 on ice.

The show costs $750,000 to put on ice and tops the million mark when the cost of equipment previously purchased from the sister show Ice Capades is added.

Victorians will see a cool concert that takes 15 weeks to rehearse and a full year to produce. The cast and props will arrive in a special train of four sleepers, four baggage cars, diner and lounge car.

For the first time the Ice Cycles will present "Cinderella" as one of their featured numbers. The sequence in which Cinderella dons skates is complete with dialogue. Four white mechanical horses pull the fabled carriage and Ice Cycles officials promise that the carriage will change from a pumpkin "right before your very eyes."

Victoria audiences will also see for the first time the French skater, Raymonde du Bief, who skates on ballet slippers with blades attached.

Another feature of the show will be the ice ballet "Birds of a Feather" in which the Ice Cyclettes appear as peacocks, complete with huge fantail feathers nine feet wide and six feet high. This is the first $100,000 number ever produced in the history of ice shows.

Barbara Brent's BUYS and WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, December 4th — Something special for your baby ... a plastic Baby Tumbler that teaches him to drink from a cup without spilling a drop. What a more it is yours for just 25c with the labels from 6 tins of HEINZ BABY FOODS or 3 Heinz Baby Cereals. Write to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. Heinz Baby Foods are "something special" for baby, too. You see, Heinz Strained Baby Foods — meat food products, soups, vegetables and desserts — are expertly blended to give your tiny tot the extra nourishment he needs. And they're all pre-cooked in Heinz spotless kitchens. All you do, mother, is take them from the tin, heat and serve.

Which Is Best? That's a question that's really important when it comes to selecting the right tissues for make-up use. So I gave the leading brands the "dressing-table test". Try it yourself ... next time you're applying make-up or removing cold cream, use an ordinary 2-ply tissue for one cheek and a 3-ply cushiony Face-Elle for the other. Note how the FACE-ELLE tissue holds together to do the job without mess or fuss! Contrast that with tissues that shreds easily ... and where finger-tips poke through even with light rubbing. There is evidence of the extra strength of Face-Elle's 3-PLY thickness ... the only 3-ply tissues in Canada! And compare it for softness too — there just isn't any other tissue to equal that gentle easy-on-the-skin caress of Face-Elle.

Wonderful Way To Relax after Christmas shopping ... just make yourself a cup or two of INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. It's so quick and easy to make ... takes no longer than heating the water! And it's so good. You see, Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee is made by real coffee people. The flavour is there — and the body — and the real lift. And something else you'll like about it is that it's truly economical. I save up to 40c a pound compared with ground coffee. Yes the regular size jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn gives me the same number of cups as a pound of ground coffee — but what a difference in price!

"I Can't Remember When my family have been more enthusiastic about a breakfast food!" writes a reader about "CREAM OF WHEAT". Yes, Quick "Cream of Wheat" is truly a family "flavourite" ... a delicious way to wake up early-morning sleepyheads. It cooks to satin-smoothness in just five minutes of boiling. And, you'll agree, it's delicious. Good for you — for, in addition to other benefits, Quick "Cream of Wheat" provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus (so often deficient in these elements) ... and all for less than 1c a bowl! Particularly good, I find, topped with stewed fruit or raisins, sugar and cream.

Is Your Man A Cut-Up? Does he come to breakfast with a nicked face and morning grouch? Well ... take it from me ... the new REMINGTON 60 De Luxe is a Christmas gift that will perk up his disposition and his face! With its exclusive three diamond-honed twin-cutting heads this keen electric shaver is the smo-o-othest choice of all! He'll appreciate the clean, long-lasting, quick shave it gives ... every whisker disappears in 60 seconds flat! Plan to surprise him with this Remington 60 De Luxe ... it's the gift he'll enjoy every morning of the year ... and it comes in its own smart carrying case.

It's Been A Tradition in our family since grandma's day ... old-fashioned bean supper. Except that Heinz has made a big difference in the way I cook beans. No all-day slaving over a huge old range. I simply empty a can or two of HEINZ OVEN-BAKED BEANS in a casserole, flip a switch, and within a matter of minutes the family is enjoying a bean treat. Every bit as good as grandma's ... in fact, grandma herself has been heard to say that Heinz beans are the tastiest she's ever eaten. Yes, any night is Heinz night in our house. You see, there are now five kinds of Heinz Oven-Baked Beans — the latest, Heinz Oven-Baked Beans with sliced Wieners. Look for them when you're shopping.

It's What The Well-Dressed Man will be wearing in '53 ... so do be sure to Christmas-gift your husband with a B.V.D. NYLON TRICOT SHIRT. He'll be proud of you for knowing just what he wants for Christmas! Made of comfortable, good-looking nylon tricot — with fused nylon collars and cuffs that never wilt — B.V.D. Nylon Shirts always look neat and trim — without ironing. Just think of the time and money you'll save! Laundering's no problem at all ... just a quick rinse, wait awhile, and the shirt is ready to wear. So take my tip. Get your husband a handsome, long-wearing B.V.D. Nylon Tricot Shirt for Christmas ($12.95 in blue, tan, gray or white).

Youngsters Love Having Savings Accounts of their very own. I remember last year when I gave a BANK OF MONTREAL Christmas Passbook to my best friend's little girl. She loved the Christmassy design on the outside, but was a little puzzled until we explained to her that the passbook meant that she had a B of M Savings Account of her very own. Inside the passbook cover, sure enough, there was the amount marked that I'd deposited for her. Money in the bank at her age! You should have seen her eyes sparkle, and her mother told me she slept with her passbook under her pillow that night. She's an enthusiastic, regular saver now, I hear. So, if you want to surprise your youngsters with a very special present (and one that's character-building, too) give them a B of M Savings Account this year! Drop into your neighborhood branch tomorrow — and cross another name off your Christmas shopping list.

Here's Extra Protection For You! Your favourite BLUE BONNET DE LUXE MARGARINE now has each golden-yellow quarter pound individually wrapped in pure aluminum foil with inner parchment lining. Really De Luxe protection for Blue Bonnet's De Luxe, sunny-sweet flavour. You'll find De Luxe Blue Bonnet extra convenient, too. Just unwrap what you need and serve. No slicing, scooping, or re-wrapping. And you can forget your measuring cup when cooking. The handy chart on the package shows exactly where to cut for recipes. Ask for De Luxe Blue Bonnet Margarine, and get all these "De Luxe" advantages — and Blue Bonnet "De Luxe" quality, too.

There's No Getting Around It. The Christmas season starts earlier every year. Friends you haven't seen for ages start calling, and the coffee pot seems to always be on the stove ready for quick refreshment. Most times you're all set if you just have cake 'n' coffee. And I know nothing pleases our Christmas callers more than a delicious Swans Down cake. Cakes made with SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR have a way of making any occasion something very special. No cake mix no other flour can do for a cake what Swans Down does. That's because Swans Down is especially made for better cake baking. It's a good idea to be sure to have Swans Down Cake Flour on hand these coming weeks. You will get up to six cakes from one package.

Top College Grid Teams Not Likely To Feel Humiliation of Pro Giants

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—It has been common knowledge for some time that football is a funny game, but the mere fact still does not entirely explain how a team of professionals, coached by an acknowledged master of defense, can on a given afternoon be completely outclassed from the opening whistle [illegible].

That was the galling experience which befell Steve Owen and his New York Giants in the cold and snow at Pittsburgh last week end. It was a nightmare the famous mentor from Oklahoma will never forget, starting from the moment Lynn Chandois ran the first kick-off back the length of the field for a touchdown and lasting until the insatiable Steelers had poured across their final three scores in the closing period.

FREAK OF GAME

There had been nothing to resemble the shambles made of the Giants' defense since 1940, when the mighty Chicago Bears smashed the Washington Redskins 73-0. This was considered a freak of a game at the time, and we had been assured by knowing football men that it could never happen again, professional coaches having since made such notable strides in their defensive formations.

Owen probably came as close to explaining the debacle as possible when he said. "If you stay in football long enough, something like that is bound to happen to you."

The thought which comes to our mind is whether such a dizzy occurrence as that at Pittsburgh might not point up an essential difference between professional football clubs and the best of the collegians. If Michigan State and Georgia Tech played each other 20 times over a number of seasons, would either of them ever suffer such a humiliating defeat as that which was inflicted upon the Giants?

NO PERCENTAGE

We doubt it, and this isn't meant as a knock at the money players. They put up a whale of a show week after week and play the best football that is to be seen. But, as we watched the Giants get their lumps the thought occurred that they risked their necks less and less once they realized what was happening to them. They seemed to realize there was no percentage [illegible] U And that there would be another game next Sunday. The collegians haven't enough time left to play it that way.

COULDN'T MISS

Another point is that, on a given day when its plays are clicking, any professional club can have a more devastating offense than the best college team which ever existed. The Steelers were such an outfit last Sunday. Their passer, Jim Finks, the former Tulsa star, had one of those days when he could have thrown the ball into a bucket at 40 yards, and his receivers could have caught a saucer of water without spilling a drop.

A college team will not have the distressing experience of running into such an attack, and so will never know how a club of case-hardened professionals could curl up and die before it.

The average age of the patient dying under the care of physicians in the time of the Pharoahs was 30 years.

Remember When . .

Georges Vezina, one of hockey's greatest goalkeepers, was ordered to quit the game 27 years ago today. He had played his last game for Montreal Canadiens a few nights before, despite a temperature of 102 degrees, and died at Chicoutimi, Que., in the following spring, March of 1926.

Fire Uncovers Roman Wall

COLCHESTER, England Dec. 3 (CP).—A wall 15 feet thick, uncovered by a fire here, has been identified as part of the forum which surrounded the fourth-century Roman temple of Claudius. Other remains of Roman edifices are thought to have been displaced by Norman settlers in later centuries.

A PADRE IN PRINT

BY REV. WILLIAM HILLS

The parson's desk is a kind of cross-roads of human life and thought. Some people still say that a parson only works on Sunday! Don't you believe that assumption for ... busy stream of life are gone—if ever they were in existence.

By my left hand is an insistent and ubiquitous instrument called the telephone. Any one of you can break into my study by dialing the appropriate number. It doesn't matter if the house is placarded with the sign "Small-Pox, Keep Out," or even if there is a sign on the front lawn "Beware of the dog," the insistent clamour of the bell demands attention and attention it gets.

The ringing of a telephone bell is like the arrival of a telegram. You may not like it and you may even dread it, but you must take some notice of it. And so it goes.

I thought I would be very clever and do something about the cacophonous shock of the bell, and so I had the telephone company tone it down. Now my ears and nerves strain to anticipate its singnal. For the price we pay, the telephone is not an unmixed blessing.

* * *

There is another stream of communication which, by the authority of Her Majesty's Post Office, settles itself down on the parson's desk.

What is there about a three or four-cent stamp that gives people the courage to write what they would not or could not say to your face? I am referring, of course, to that peculair phenomenon of the anonymous letter-writer. Parsons are not absolved from his hasty attentions in any city, but I think Victoria takes the proverbial cake in the variety and the volume of this type of poison pen letter writing.

Let any man—I do not care what his profession or occupation may be—allow himself to be quoted or interested in any public issue—and, behold, a stream of abuse comes his way from dark and anonymous sources.

I had a little chuckle the other day, however. One of these letters arrived on my desk without a signature save a cryptic typewritten phrase, "One Who Knows the Truth," and there, in the upper right hand corner, an old habit had betrayed the sender. Yes, you are right—his typewriter had spelled out his address!

A vague temptation came to me to try to find out who the writer was, but then I stayed my hand. After all, why should I spoil his fun? A wise old man once said that he would rather be talked about than be forgotten.

* * *

There is another thing which surprises me in the daily burden of the mail, and that is the great number of otherwise well-educated individuals who, with stubborn insistence, address me as the "Reverend" Hills.

Nothing destroys my faith in our educational system so much as that glaring display of misplaced words. It is on a par with the politician who, embracing the comic-strip characteristics of a Japanese house-boy, insists upon introducing a cabinet minister as the "Honorable" Smith.

Language is the barometer of culture and such solecisms indicate a high achievement in the practice of vulgarity. No self-respecting dictionary will permit anybody to make such a flagrant misuse of the Queen's English.

I am happy to know that the Colonist editorial department shares my distaste for this malpractice.

* * *

In an age of ideas such as our own, words must be given their exact values. Listening to some of the talks from the United Nations, I am struck with the fact that a good dictionary would do more for the peace of the world than a sealed and beribboned convention.

Take the word "peace" for example. In some quarters anything which is done by the Soviet Union is considered to be for the "peace" of the world despite the fact that the record shows that since the ending of the war in Europe and Asia, Albania, Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, China and North Korea have all been over-run by the Red tide of aggression.

The only country which has been able to shake off the domination of the Kremlin has been Yugoslavia and even in that case there has been only a change in leadership from Stalin to Tito. The ideology of Communism still reigns supreme.

Communism has a monopoly of "peace" but it is the peace of the drugged mind, the surrender of the will and the embrace of the grave.

Rangers' Club Gives $1,000 To Boy Scouts

SIDNEY, Dec. 3—Sidney Boy Scouts will receive a windfall of $1,000 when a bond in this value will be presented to the local scout association at next Tuesday evening's annual meeting.

The gift is a donation of the Barrow Range Club, which represents the members of the No. 3 Company, Pacific Coast Militia ... World War.

Cheque Proves Sad Letdown

GRIMETHORPE, England, Dec. 3 (CP)—Leonard Harrison received a telegram saying he had won £6,767 in a football pool, but the cheque that came was for £767. Investigation showed a clerical error had led to a mistake in the telegram.

The Articles of Confederation were adopted by the Continental Congress, Nov. 15, 1777.

Victoria Drama Group Young But Flourishing

St Luke's Players will be one of the youngest clubs competing in the Dominion Drama Festival early next year.

The club was organized in 1949 and under the energetic leadership of Mrs. Flora Nicholson it has since grown from a struggling group of 10 to a membership ... teen-agers to retired majors and some whole families are represented.

Before joining, very few of the members had ever acted and in the festival play of 1950-51 three-quarters of those in the St. Lukes' play were giving their first stage performance.

In the Southern Vancouver Island Festival of 1950-51, the club won the best play award, best actress award, best actor award and the best locally-written play award.

WORKSHOP PLAYS

The locally-written play was "Under the Clock," by Mrs. Nicholson. She has also written "Man With the Lunch Pail," and "The 7.28," which have been staged by the club.

The club spends most of its weekly meeting time on workshop plays. Two or three plays each years have been put on for local audiences in St. Luke's Hall and these, together with membership fees, make up the club's financial budget.

The Dominion Drama Festival entry is "The Holly and the Ivy," by Wynyard Browne and directed by Mrs. Nicholson. It will be put on at St. Luke's Hall for Victoria audiences on December 16, 18, and 19.

Members of the cast are Charles Gibson, Margaret Martin, Carol MacCormac, Anthony Nicholson, Kathryn Roberts, Doris Steward, Harry Harrod and Tom Kerr.

Also in production at the present time are two one-act plays, "Quiet Please" and "The Flower Shop."

The prone position theoretically is the best for fighter pilots, since it cuts down blackout during sharp pull-outs and other body-slamming manoeuvres.

Increase Urged For Members

PORT ALBERNI, Dec. 3—Local C.C.F. members, gathered at a policy conference here at the week end, urged increased indemnities of provincial legislative members in a resolution while they deplored the "apparent lack of understanding in some quarters of the financial situation facing elected representatives."

Text of the resolution was:

"Whereas the only remuneration a member of the B.C. Legislature receives is a sessional indemnity to a maximum of $3,000 based on a full session;

"And whereas the expenses entailed in attending sessions of the House and carrying on the duties of the office in the constituency, necessarily require most of this indemnity;

"And whereas this situation makes it difficult for citizens without private means to run for and hold public office;

"Therefore be it resolved that the present system of sessional indemnities should be abolished, and M.L.A.'s paid a regular monthly income sufficient to provide an adequate living, plus an allowance to cover sessional and constituency expenses."

The group also went on record as being behind a resolution passed at the U.B.C.M. convention invoking provincial support of low cost financing for municipalities.

... was Joseph Crosbie, C.C.F. provincial president, who expressed the opinion that the forthcoming federal election will revolve four main issues.

He outlined these as being the position of Canada in world trade, policies necessary to the establishment of peace, the "poor" taxation policies of the present government, and lack of an adequate social security program.

LONDON, Dec. 3 (Reuters)—Lord Brabazon of Tara, former minister of transport and vice-president of a national safety association, was fined £2 today for speeding. The 68-year-old pioneer of British aviation pleaded innocent.

SWEET SECRET . . .

Why do men who know choose Black Magic chocolates for the women they care about? There are two answers, really. One is that the centres are really wonderful—every woman adores them (3,000 people chose them as their favourites from hundreds of different chocolate centres). And the other reason is that the money you pay for them is being spent on the chocolates and not on elaborate packaging. The simple, but elegant black box which contains Black Magic, puts little on the price.

Show Has Taste Of Front Lines

Here is another entry from the diary of Jerry Gosley, creator of the "Smile Show," first West Coast entertainment unit invited to visit Canadian forces in Korea. The trip is sponsored by the Canadian Legion.

BY JERRY GOSLEY

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Nov. 18 (By Air Mail, Delayed).—Arriving yesterday at this Commonwealth workshop we heard gunfire for the first time—it goes rumbling on continually all day [illegible]

Last night I was awakened by a particularly heavy barrage. The old caravan shook—so did I!

Earlier we had a shower, the most dangerous experience yet. Inside a rickety canvas screen on the side of a hill Al and I had to undress while swinging from a cross beam to prevent our clothes dragging in the mud—the girls did the same. This morning with frost on the ground our bathroom was the steps of the caravan. It's lots of fun. If our audiences get as many laughs as we do they'll do all right.

Jerry Gosley's "Smile Show," fresh from its entertainment tour of the Korean war zone, will appear on stage in Victoria's York Theatre, December 15, 16 and 17. Camosun Gyro Club will be sponsor.

Two suitcases were left behind in Japan so for the past week Al and I have shared our only towel and razor. Verna is using Al's pyjamas. There's a very friendly spirit in our gang—I'm proud of 'em.

You should see them doing a public relations job. We insist on going into other-ranks canteens and talking to the men and giving impromptu sing-songs. These kids are handling the job as though they've been at it all their lives. This morning, under the leadership of an Aussie captain, we went on a hill climb—it was tough going especially as we had to carefully place our feet where our leader had trod, just in case there were mines.

Here and there we saw odd-looking metal objects which we were told to avoid—they had appeared recently, planted by North Korean guerrillas who creep about after dark. On the way down, with the rumble of war in the background a terrific explosion to our left shook the living daylights out of us—a large cloud billowed skywards . . . We learned afterwards it was just a bit of rock blasting by the British!

Irene and Verna went off on a sightseeing tour to Castle Hill, a fortress built by Genghis Khan in 1278. From here they actually watched the shells exploding on the battlefront.

Hospital Finances Held On 'Brink of Disaster'

Health Minister Eric Martin and the Social Credit government have brought hospital finances and the principle of hospital insurance to the "brink of disaster," C.C.F. leader Harold Winch charged yesterday.

He commented on the "holding the line" action in hospital daily rates to be paid in 1953 by the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

"Under the new Social Credit 'freeze' plan, hospitals and municipalities become responsible for carrying the burden of cost of increasing wages and of equipment and supplies," he said.

"This policy returns hospitals in the province to the precarious financial position which existed prior to inauguration of B.C.H.I.S.," he added.

DANGER SIGNALS

He said the government should have seen the danger signals, that hospitals have records showing twice as many patients without hospital insurance as one year ago.

Mr. Winch called upon Mr. Martin to convene immediately a meeting of the insurance service advisory council, the insurance service inquiry board and government representatives to discuss the problem. They could jointly advise on steps needed to protect citizens for hospital care and hospitals' finances.

Mr. Martin had, before the by-elections, denied C.C.F. reports on potential hospital financial dangers, Mr. Winch noted, with the "freezing" order being nothing more than political expediency.

Insurance Officials See Bennett, Bonner

Insurance executives yesterday met Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Attorney-General Robert Bonner to discuss problems of automobile insurance coverage.

"We discussed the matter deeply," said M. C. Holden, man- [illegible] surance Company, who was the spokesman for the party.

The government is anxious to make sure that everyone who holds a driver's license can obtain insurance," he said.

"We were able to offer them several suggestions, and we are now going ahead with a plan which may help solve the difficulty."

It is understood that the higher premiums [illegible] young drivers, or those with poor accident records, is the chief concern of the B.C. government.

Observatory Visits End For Winter

Public visits to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain are at an end for the winter months, it was announced last night.

Last Saturday was the final [illegible] year. The public observation periods will be resumed next April.

Province Trade Union Congress Possible As Result of Coming Nanaimo Convention

More than 300 A.F.L.-T.L.C. unions in British Columbia will be united in a provincial trade union congress before the new year if an executive resolution wins approval from delegates to the Trades and Labor Congress three-day provincial convention [illegible]

First business will be an executive committee resolution recommending a full-time central body replace the present scattered executive organization.

The resolution calls for formation of B.C. trades Union Congress with president and secretary elected by convention delegates and vice-presidents appointed by various local T.L.C. [illegible]

The Canadian Congress of Labor has had a similar organization for some years with its local unions united in the B.C. Federation of Labor.

Proposed amendments to the labor act, workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance will be among more than 60 resolutions to come before the 150 delegates.

Other resolutions deal with the [illegible] practices, national health scheme, automobile insurance and extension of the old-age pension.

Condor, 130 Officers, Ratings Lost

Foundering of Man-of-War Recalled

BY MAJOR F. V. LONGSTAFF
Convoyer, Marine Handling Committee, The B.C. Historical Association

The only man-of-war ever totally lost on this coast was the sloop-of-war Condor, 980 tons, built of steel at Sheerness in 1897. This took place after sailing out from Esquimalt on December 3, 1903.

She ran into a powerful storm off Cape Flattery, where she was overwhelmed by the waves filling her up between the solid bulwarks from which the water could not escape fast enough as the scuppers were too small. None of her crew of 130 officers and ratings survived.

The sinking was not realized for many days as there was no wireless in those days and it was supposed she was making a slow passage to Honolulu. When after weeks no newies came from Honolulu, a general search over the Pacific Ocean was organized, but when the cruiser Phaeton returned with no news on March 14, 1902, the Condor was posted as missing.

Some years ago when divers were working off Cape Cook they stated they had found the hull of the Condor, but the Admiralty was not interested, by the news.

The captain of the Condor was Cmdr. Clifton Sclater, R.N., who commissioned the ship at Chatham on November 1, 1900, for the Pacific station. She had a single screw, and was the second vessel of the name. Her loss condemned the use of solid bulwarks, which were superseded by metal stanchions with wire rope lead through.

The open side rails would not obstruct the passage of even a heavy sea across the upper deck or waist.

One of the lifebuoys was found on the beach of Banks Island by W. P. Curtis, master of the tug Muriel, in May, 1902, and it now is in St. Paul's Church on Esquimalt. One of her boats, a square-sterned dinghy was found by an Indian chief near Ahousat, just south of Estevan Point. Cmdr. S. S. Tozier of the U.S. Coast Guard, in the Grant, searched for any relics of the Condor and found the dinghy in the possession of the Indian chief. The chief came on board the Grant, and Cmdr. Tozier carried on negotiations for several hours, but a price could not be agreed upon.

At last the chief saw the great regard of the commander on the table and he indicated that would be the price. The dinghy was put on the Grant and then taken to Esquimalt, where it was laid on the deck of the old survey ship Egeria. This was in February, 1902.

Here is the proof of this statement. Years ago the writer was given some old lantern slides belonging to the late Capt. Frederick Henry Walker, R.N., who had served in the Egeria as a lieutenant. One of the slides was a picture of a dinghy on what appears to be the deck of the old wooden-sided Egeria, which was then in Esquimalt Harbor.

GOOD AUTHORITY

The writer has been told on good authority that in 1911 the Egeria then had a whaleboat on her, from the former flagship Grafton.

Anyhow, no trace of the dinghy ever having been in the Dockyard can be found. About 20 years afterward when Cmdr. Tozier was retired he was in a hospital in the eastern states when the British ambassador presented him with a new dress naval sword from the late King Edward.

The U.S. Congress had to give special permission for a citizen to accept a gift from a foreign country. This present was to replace the one he had given to the Indian chief at Ahousat.

The Condor had five sister-ships, all of 980 tons, 180 feet in length, 33 feet beam and mean draught of 11.5 feet. They were the Rosario, Shearwater, Vestal, Mutine and Rinaldo; all single-screw and barque-rigged.

The name Condor was comparatively new in the navy, for the first one was launched at Devonport in 1876, being 774 tons, one screw, and carried one 4¾-ton gun amidships, one 64-pounder gun forward and one aft, all being muzzle-loading on traversing mountings. She won the signal "Well done, Condor," from Admiral Sir Frederick Beauchamp Paget, Seymour, Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Fleet, then attacking the powerfully-armed forts at Alexandria in June, 1882.

IRON-CLAD FLEET

Cmdr. Lord Charles Beresford was appointed to Condor on December 1, 1881. The ironclad fleet fired with big guns against the powerful forts, while the little Condor was placed by Beresford near the shore, under the trajectory of the guns. The forts so that she could not be hit, while her own guns destroyed some of those of the Egyptians.

Much more could be written about Lord Charles and his small command. The Condor was sold out of the service in 1908 at Devonport, according to the navy list.

The third Condor now in commission is a shore establishment as a ground naval-air training station at Arbroath on the east coast of Scotland. She was commissioned by Rear Admiral (F.) W. S. Jameson, according to the latest navy list.

The Egeria was sold by auction in October, 1921, and set fire to on the north shore of Burrard Inlet to get the copper, brass and other metals from her hull. The price was $6,000 from junk dealers.

Concert Set At School

S. J. Willis Junior High School will stage a Christmas concert in the school auditorium Friday, December 12, at 8 p.m.

Featuring student participation the concert will present a varied program including two plays, selections by bands A and B, a minstrel show, beach exercises by the physical education department and a tumbling display.

Toylands Shrink, but Variety Still Wide

BY BARNEY McKINLEY

The day of the bang-up, noisy, colorful Christmas toyland seems to be over in Victoria, if this year's versions in two downtown department stores can be taken as a sign.

Two toylands visited here yesterday were about one-quarter the size of last year's show. There were no train rides for Yule-happy youngsters, no moving pictures.

Even the mechanical Santa Claus that nods up and down and keeps shouting "Oh Ho Ho Ho" is missing from the scene.

But even though stripped of the more garish features, the departments were the same old toylands with everything from modeling clay to a four-foot stuffed panda ($49.50) on display.

Goods were from United States, Germany, Japan, Italy, England and Canada with this country supplying about 80 per cent of the goods its own children will cajole their parents into buying.

Canada was right out in front in some types of mechanical toys, most of the wooden ones and a good part of the plastic. Some of the dolls were Canadian-made as well, with one modeled after a Canadian star, Barbara Ann Scott, perhaps the most popular on the list.

But it looked as though Santa might find the sledding a little tougher this year. Prices of toys were up an average of 10 per cent, managers reported.

The Christmas buying was also a little slower than at this date last year, they said, with indications the parents of the land were looking at prices.

For laughs one manager could recommend a jumping grasshopper and an accident car that flies apart when it runs into an obstacle.

MEAN HAND

Manager at the next toy store was more inclined to try out models himself and turned out to be a mean hand with a Buck Rogers rocket gun.

Both managers said toys were in good supply with only some lines getting a little short.

Among favorite items for boys was a police tricycle with windshield, siren, and red spotlight selling at $24.95, mechanical toys like road graders, cranes and trucks built to scale and ready for digging operations in the back lawn.

Miniature cars—some of the best from England—and such stand-bys as metal soldiers were also getting a play and stocks were good in traditional games like monopoly and ludo as well as newer types such as electric tic-tac-toe which has nothing to do with a hot-foot.

PALOOKA BABY

Among best-selling dolls were a Joe Palooka baby (born in the comic strips three weeks ago) that smelled like a freshly-powdered baby; a hearheal doll, a Queen Elizabeth doll, the twin dolls, Pete and Repete; the "Little Angel," with a sweet face, a rubber head and a nylon gown.

Other items getting attention were a remote control car handled from a switch held in the hand, a hockey game and a car race outfit.

Of real interest to parents were toys which encourage junior to pound wooden legs in a frame instead of nails in the piano and plastic educational toys which teach him how the wheels go round, dulling his urge to take the clock apart.

And if toyland itself is quieter this year, there are signs Christmas morning at home will be as noisy as ever.

One store reported drums all sold out and sales good for a horn with several notes, toy pianos, a clown that plays music when his nose is twisted and a musical rocking chair.

That old Christmas cannonball—the electric train—is also in good supply this year. Stores were showing both heavy American and smaller English type trains.

With hug-eyed interest, several youngsters watch one of downtown toyland displays, which this year are reported to be smaller than for many years. Missing were train rides, movies and laughing, mechanical Santa. Five nearest camera from left, are Gordon Burton, David Quartle, Gale Burton and twins Katharine and Peter Brynjolfen.

Squealing with delight at performing elephant in one of city's toylands are Jane and Karen Leith, with mother, Mrs. A. Leith, Bonair Place, Victoria. Toyland managers reported that prices of toys were up about an average of 10 per cent this year, and buying is a little slower than at this time last year. Well-made Canadian toys were much in evidence.

Gregory, Housewife Seek Seats

Two last-minute developments came last night in municipal election news.

Mrs. Ann Smith announced she will campaign for election to Esquimalt council.

An election contest for Oak Bay council was assured with announcement by George F. Gregory that he has filed nomination papers. The contest will be the first in three years.

Other Oak Bay candidates are Patrick Birley, architect, W. E. Ellis, now a police commissioner, and F. A. Robinson, who will seek re-election.

Mr. Gregory, 2990 Beach Avenue, is a well-known barrister and solicitor.

Oak Bay council announced last night that its annual report to ratepayers would be given at 8 p.m. next Thursday in Oak Bay High School.

Mrs. Smith, 401 Lampson Street, is making her first venture into municipal government circles. A resident of Esquimalt nine years, she is active in Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association. Her husband, Dr. J. Willard Smith, is president of the association.

Attack, Anaesthetic Caused Fatal Shock

Combined shocks, resulting from an attack by a monkey and application of an anaesthetic soon after, led to the death of five-month-old Linda Harrison.

This report was offered by Dr. Ross McNeilly, pathologist at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, who yesterday testified at an inquest held into the death of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harrison, of Comox.

The child was rushed to hospital late Monday afternoon after being attacked by a pet monkey which reportedly broke its chain at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Couche, operators of the Chez Marrel eating establishment on the Island Highway. They are the parents of Mrs. Harrison.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

Dr. McNeilly said the baby had reacted abnormally to an anaesthetic when she was about to receive treatment for severe lacerations.

The combined shocks, he said, had resulted in the lungs collapsing.

The mother of the dead child told the coroner's jury she had been ironing in the house when the tragic accident occurred. She had heard a scream, she said, and upon looking out of a window saw the monkey on top of the baby. By the time she got outside, she continued, the baby's basket had been placed on top of the child.

The monkey was destroyed shortly after the attack.

Do You Remember?

Do you remember 20 years ago?

. . . When Captain Walter Wanderwell, well known in Victoria, was assassinated aboard his pleasure yacht "Carma" at Long Beach, California, on the eve of his departure on a world cruise with Lord Edward Montagu, son of the Duke of Manchester, formerly of Victoria and Edmonton, where he worked as a newspaperman?

. . . When strip golf was a new fad in Los Angeles and players were obliged to shed a garment for every hole lost and the new course was opened by a foursome in full evening dress including toppers?

. . . When St. Mary's Church, erected in 1862 by the Royal Engineers at New Westminster, was burned and police officials blamed the fire on incendiarism?

. . . When the Empress of Canada, Captain A. J. Hailey, docked at Rithet piers with a large list of passengers, most of whom were bound for eastern points for the holidays?

. . . When a $60,000 fire destroyed four buildings at Stewart, B.C.—the Beaman Block, Stewart Hotel, Stewart Cafe and the Stewart News?

Thirteen Names on Victoria Ballot

City of Victoria voters will choose four aldermen from eight candidates, one police commissioner from two candidates and two school trustees from three candidates December 11.

Unless there are last-minute entries today before 2 p.m. there will be 13 names on the ballot papers and voters will be asked to give their opinions on two plebiscites and a referendum.

City Clerk Frank Hunter predicts a voting turnout of "considerably less than 50 per cent" although he hopes he is wrong.

Last year 53 per cent of the 19,600 on the voters list turned out for a record vote.

Mr. Hunter estimates about 9,500 ballots will be cast out of a possible total this year of about 20,500.

In the race for council are Aldermen Arthur Dowell, Donald Smith, Frank Mulliner, Robert Macmillan and James Neely, all seeking re-election; Milford Mooney, Harry Haigh and Mrs. Jane Freedman.

Seeking re-election as Victoria representatives on the Greater Victoria School Board are Trustees Austin Curtis and Mrs. D. P. W. Maunsell. Seeking election for the first time is Harold Whitfield.

There will be a two way contest between Gordon Carter and John A. McLellan for one seat on the police commission. The vacancy is created by the retirement of Brent Murdoch whose term ends this year.

Voters will be asked to give assent to two by-laws, one cancelling the present Pemberton Park and establishing another nearby, and the other giving the city authority to set aside $35,000 a year plus $202,500 obtained by sale of the Ogden Point Grain elevator for retirement of the city's debt.

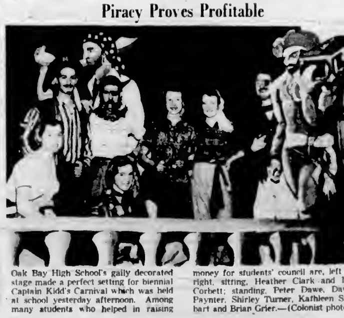

The referendum asks voters if they endorse the city's action in closing the Yates Street fire hall last May and dismissing 10 firemen for economy reasons.

The referendum is merely an expression of opinion and not necessarily binding on the council. The result of two plebescites, however, is mandatory.

NANAIMO, Dec. 3—The sightless, those suffering from arthritis and old-age pensioners will be special guests of the Nanaimo Symphony Society when the Nanaimo Symphony Orchestra presents its first winter concert in the Pygmy Pavilion December 16.

Piracy Proves Profitable

City Store Finds Customers Favor Shopping in Evening

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

A Victoria store has discovered by census that practically all its customers favor opening one night each week, while a majority of its staff is willing to adjust its working hours to make this possible.

This may be the forerunner of more attempts to have the city by-law altered to allow shops to remain open after six o'clock, which is the present limit.

Urgency is pleaded by those who favor night shopping, because of the incursion of the Sears-Roebuck Company of the United States into the Canadian department store field.

Sears-Roebuck has been among the leaders of the night shopping movement which has swept through the United States until there is one night a week opening in 80 per cent of all cities and in 90 per cent of cities over 200,000 population.

Victoria is one of the centres nominated by the new Simpson-Sears Company as a site for a new department store, and it is to be anticipated that they will apply the pressure on night opening.

WHY WAIT?

"Why should we wait for someone else to take the lead," said Ed Mallek, proprietor of the Victoria store which has found its customers want to shop at night.

Mr. Mallek declares that many of his customers have to take time off from their work to do their shopping.

He also believes that opening on Thursday evenings would be a convenience to up-Island shoppers many of whom have their early closing on that day.

However, Mr. Mallek is not going to find it easy to convince the majority of storekeepers in Victoria.

Opposition will come from those who believe that there is a limit to the market in any case and that adjustment of hours does not alter the overall spending capacity of the public.

CLERKS OPPOSED

Retail clerks are generally opposed to night working, although there may be exceptions, as is claimed by Mr. Mallek, and there are other storekeepers who will urge that six-day opening, particularly during the tourist season, is a much more important topic.

In view of the fact that Simpsons-Sears or other U.S. chain stores may at any time establish themselves here and press for night opening, the system as it works in the United States is of interest.

In a comprehensive survey made by Fortune magazine and published in its November issue, the following trends and facts were noted.

Fortune found that night opening was spreading rapidly. Some cities which had tried one night a week had now extended operations to two nights a week.

A general impression was that expensive goods moved faster at night, but that in other stores it had been a distinct failure.

FEW SURVEYS

The strange thing that Fortune found was that few stores had made surveys. Most of them have taken their night opening decisions blindly.

An exception was a Minneapolis store which found in a census of 600 customers that they favored two-night-a-week opening.

Fortune found the real innovators of night opening in the last two decades had been Sears-Roebuck and the supermarkets. By 1939 over half of Sears "A" stores were open two or more nights a week.

By the end of 1951 36 per cent of all supermarkets were open six nights a week and 29 per cent from two to five nights a week.

A Los Angeles store manager said that night opening might be killed by the unions if they demanded premium wages, while an employee took the other view that she would prefer to work two nights a week rather than operate on a five-day-a-week basis.

RESULT UNKNOWN

But whether stores actually do better business by opening at night few can say.

It has been the experience in Los Angeles, New York, Cincinnati, Seattle, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, Detroit, Chicago and Columbus down-town merchants that because of night opening Saturday no longer is the big volume day.

Fortune has shown that in the United States the benefits from night shopping vary considerably and it has obviously found no undisputable answer.

The same position would probably apply in Victoria where the benefits of night opening might be confined to certain types of stores.

House To Meet On February 3

The date the legislature will meet and some of the business it will discuss were announced yesterday by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The first session of the new legislature will begin February 3.

Some of its business possibly will include a redistribution bill, amendments to the Elections Act, amendments to the liquor act and possibly appointment of a committee to study the Buttle Lake issue.

Appointments of Thomas Irwin, M.L.A., Delta, as speaker of the House and of Hugh Shantz, S.C., North Okanagan, as deputy speaker, were announced also, subject to legislature approval.

FIRST SINCE 1938

The proposed redistribution would be the first since 1938, the premier said. The province's population has grown by a half million persons since that time.

How redistribution would be brought about was not disclosed. The legislature could authorize an increase in the present 48 members or amend the boundaries of the ridings.

Balance between ridings does not now exist because of the larger population. Victoria with three members has a population of 35,632 persons, while North Vancouver has one member representing 33,893 persons. Also, Burnaby, with a lone member, has 41,185 voters.

Amendments to the Elections Act would be only for smoother operation of the voting and counting procedures, the premier announced. He gave no other details.

TO SUBMIT REPORT

Liquor law changes would result from recommendations of the inquiry commission now holding sittings throughout the province. It is to submit its report by December 31 and legislation is to be planned, he added.

The Buttle Lake committee would comprise members from all parties elected. A committee should have been appointed by the last legislature, Premier Bennet stated.

Reported Polio Cases Total 22 for District

There have been 22 reported cases of polio in the Greater Victoria area this year, health officials have disclosed.

The total includes seven in Victoria, one in Oak Bay and 12 in Saanich. Two of the Saanich cases were outsiders visiting in the city. The Saanich health area includes part of the provincial territory and Sidney.

Dr. J. L. Gayton, Victoria-Esquimalt medical health officer, said none of the cases is now in a respirator but three are taking therapeutic treatments at home.

Latest case reported was a Sidney man, an employee of Victoria Press Ltd., whose son had contracted the disease earlier.

The scarlet fever outbreak which neared epidemic proportions in October and the first part of November appears to be on the wane, Dr. Gayton said.

He said it was "much quieter" this week. The main flurry occurred about three weeks ago when 30 cases of a mild but infectious form of the disease was reported in Victoria and Esquimalt, and about 19 cases in Saanich.

Naval authorities closed down two primary schools in the Belmont area for two weeks to stem the spread.

Dr. Gayton said only one or two cases have come to light in the past few days.

Where . . .

. . . Did a man hang his own son?

Pair To Face Reduced Charge

—AROUND TOWN—

A charge of attempted armed robbery against two men arrested outside the Hudson's Bay Company last Monday morning was withdrawn in city police court yesterday morning, and another charge—that of illegal possession of a weapon—laid jointly against the accused men.

Alan Harris, about 20, of Vancouver, and Melvin Lawrence Cliff, 27, from Winnipeg, had both been remanded without plea when they first appeared in court on the original charge last Tuesday morning.

Yesterday Ronald Grant appeared as defense counsel for Harris.

The two accused were remanded without plea until today.

Bail for Harris was set at $2,000 in one or more sureties.

As was the case the previous day, neither of the accused men made any statement.

The two men were arrested at gunpoint by city detectives about 10 a.m. last Monday as they sat in a car parked near the Fisgard entrance to the department store.

According to police reports one of them was armed. He carried an automatic pistol in a shoulder holster, police said.

Police also found paper bags with the men at the time of the arrest.

Today's Favorite Recipe

"These are very good to serve on any occasion, and need not be buttered," says Mrs. W. F. Clinton Baddeley, 608 St. Patrick Street.

CHEESE BISCUITS

Sift together 2 cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, and 1 teaspoon salt. Cut in 4 tablespoons shortening, and add about 1 cup grated cheese. Then stir in enough milk (about ⅔ cup) to make a stiff dough. Roll or pat out dough, then fold over and roll out again to ½-inch thickness, cut to desired size. Place in shallow baking pan. While preparing these melt together ⅓ cup butter (or margarine) and ¼ pound cheddar cheese. Spoon over the top of each biscuit and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, 12 to 15 minutes.

The Senior Branch of Christ Church Cathedral W.A. will hold its annual meeting Monday, December 8, 2.30 p.m., in the Memorial Hall.

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

Question—My problem has to do with prominent collar bones and I am very conscious of them. Can you suggest any way to overcome this fault? Next year I will have to be photographed for a school book and generally we all wear the same neckline—one cut low enough to reveal the base of the throat.

Answer—First of all check on your posture. If it is less than perfect, I suggest you get busy immediately to improve it. Then check your weight. If you need to gain and have been unsuccessful in your attempts, check with your family doctor. He will tell you just how much you should put on and guide you for a specified time until you reach an ideal weight. In the meantime try this: Remove shoes and stand with back to the wall. Press small of waist into the wall. Lift chest. As you straighten your spine against the wall you will notice your chin must be pushed in so that the back of your neck is near the wall. Do this a dozen times a day. Try exercises that swing the arms in circles and generally lift the chest. Wear necklines or jewelry that cover your bones generally but don't get a complex over them. As you gain weight and chest hollows fill in the bones will become less noticeable.

Tell Group of Visits to Nursery Schools

Members of the Greater Victoria Nursery School met recently and heard two interesting talks by two of the parents who had recently visited other nursery schools—one in Eastern Canada and one in California.

Mrs. A. E. Trottier spent a day visiting the Institute of Child Study in Toronto whose director is the famous Dr. W. E. Blatz, and took advantage of the opportunity to see the nursery school in operation. She reported the set-up and routines and equipment very much the same as those in the Victoria school.

Another parent, Mrs. H. M. Edmison described a school she had visited at Coyote Point, San Mateo, California. This is a co-operative school run by the parents but which works in close co-operation with the adult education department of the San Mateo Junior College. She pointed out that mothers of the children who attend this school are required to spend one morning each week as helpers, also to participate in the maintenance of the school and are required to attend a weekly scheduled evening meeting ... of the mother to carry out this program means that the child is not allowed to attend the school.

Mrs. Edmison also felt that the Victoria Nursery School compared very favorably as to program, routine and equipment.

Mrs. G. E. Bowes was in the chair, and members heard reports of a recent get-together by the parents in aid of the equipment fund, also report of a successful work party. Miss Dorothy Doyle, supervisor, gave a report on progress of the school.

Mrs. R. F. Myles Is President Of Lake Hill Women's Institute

New president of Lake Hill Women's Institute is Mrs. R. F. Myles, whose election took place at the annual meeting this week. Other officers for the ensuing year will be installed at the regular January meeting as follows: vice-president, Mrs Secreve, recording secretary, Mrs. [illegible] corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. N. Rev., treasurer, Mrs R. W Mercer; additional board member, Mrs. W. Carpenter.

Annual reports covered the varied activities during the past twelve months; President Mrs. McGregor thanked executive and members for loyal support; Mrs. A. S. Moffat, welfare convener, reported eight committee meetings, chiefly devoted to the problems of restoration of bedside nursing service in Saanich, a problem which now seems to be moving toward solution; Mrs. R. F Myles, home economics convener, recalled the several quilting and other needlework activities; Mrs. Carpenter, agriculture noted that the institute had won prizes with two flower-show entries during the year; rentals convener, Mrs. E Glover, recorded a successful year; Miss E M Bruce reviewed the year's programs aimed at promotion of broader citizenship sympathies; and Miss Dorothy Cox, librarian noted the popularity of books by the three well known authors, Dr. Alice Ravenhill, Lord Tweedsmuir and Mrs George Black.

Preceding the annual meeting was the regular monthly meeting at which plans were made for the members' Christmas luncheon to be held Wednesday December 17 at 12 noon. Members are to bring their own tableware. Coaveners are Mrs. Eric Hagen and Mrs. R. S. Vickers.

The monthly bulletin from the provincial superintendent, Mrs. Stella Gummow contained a Christmas message from the provincial president, Mrs. A. A. Shaw, urging members to "open the doors to the stranger in your midst." Attention being called to a new institute at Vanderhoof, the secretary was asked to send them a message of greeting from Lake Hill.

Corinne Du Val Is Bride At First United Church

Lighted tapers in branched candelabra with baskets of spray chrysanthemums and ferns formed the setting in First United Church Wednesday evening for the marriage of Frances Corinne DuVal, daughter of Mrs Edward W DuVal of London, England, and the late Mr DuVal, to Major Frederick J. Brewin of Victoria, son of the late Mr and Mrs George Brewin of London, England. The Rev. Moir A J Waters performed the ceremony and organ interludes were played by Mrs Roberta Wood.

The bride, given in marriage by Dr. W. G. Wilson, was lovely in a gown of peach slipper satin overlaid with gossamer champagne lace in rose design, in princess style with portrait neckline the gown's graceful skirt touched the floor. Her chapel veil tinted a delicate champagne had a scalloped border repeating the pattern in the lace overskirt, and was gathered to a Juliet cap of satin covered with lace. Pearls given to her by her mother, were her only ornament and she carried a cascade of Talisman roses and feathered chrysanthemums in bronze tones, to complete her ensemble.

Mrs J V Henderson was matron of honor wearing a floor-length gown of cinnamon nylon net over rose and gold shot taffeta, also styled on princess lines. Her headdress of matching nylon net was trimmed with feathered chrysanthemums corresponding with the bronze and pale pink blooms in her cascade bouquet.

Colonel Eric Parker attended the bridegroom, and ushers were Major A G. Dobbie and Mr James V. Henderson.

The reception was held in the lounge of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. The bride's table decorated with bronze-toned chrysanthemums and tea roses with lighted white candles, was centred with the three-tiered wedding cake topped with lily of the valley and iced in a motif of musical notes in compliment to the bride who is an accomplished pianist. The health of the bride was proposed by Dr. W. G Wilson. Guests present included Mrs. Robert Hanley of Vancouver.

Leaving for a honeymoon in La Jolla, California, the bride wore a sapphire blue light weight wool dress, with danger coat of royal blue, winter white feather felt hat navy accessories and a gardenia corsage bouquet.

Major and Mrs Brewin will return here to live.

PRESENT FOLK SONGS

The Larkdowne Avenue home of Miss Marjorie Vaughan was the scene of the meeting of the Young Adult Group of the Victoria Musical Arts Society. The program which followed the business meeting was devoted to a study of folk music of various nations, and soloist for the evening was Mrs. Margaret Christison. The Madrigal Group also contributed folk songs from European countries, and carols.

Alderman Addresses Civic Affairs Group

Alderman Margaret Christie was guest speaker at the inaugural meeting of the newly formed civic affairs group of the Business and Professional Women's Club which was held Tuesday evening in the Government Street clubrooms.

In her informal address Mrs Christie told of her work at the city hall in the health and welfare departments.

The sick bay at the Mountain View Home, which was built recently with the co-operation of the Oak Bay council was entirely paid for by the sale of lots in the new subdivision next to the home.

"It didn't cost the taxpayers a cent," she said, and added that the new street in the subdivision had been called "Christie Way."

She also gave descriptions of the Old Ladies' Home, the Victoria Nursing Home, the Welcome Room, the Juvenile Detention Home, and other phases of her varied work.

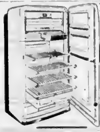

Miss Verna Beek, chairman stated that the purpose of the group is to "create an active interest in civic affairs, including municipal, provincial, and federal governments, among women generally."

Secretary is Miss Ella Brett.

6 IN MEMORIAM

TAYLOR—In loving memory of Charles A. Taylor, passed away December 4, 1950.

Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again.
—Sadly missed by his wife, May, sons ... [illegible]

A far cry from our complex court system today was simple administration of justice five centuries ago. In one case a few words from his own father sent a youth to the gallows! The charge was murder, the motive jealousy, and the scene of the crime Galway, Ireland, which in 1493 was a busy seaport carrying on an active trade with Spain. On his return from one of these commercial voyages, a young Irishman named Lynch brought to Galway a Spanish friend by the name of Gomez. At a welcoming ball held in his honor at Menlo Castle, Gomez proved himself an ungrateful visitor by stealing more than a guest's share of dances with the fair colleen who was Lynch's fiancee. His Irish temper aroused, Lynch stabbed Gomez during the dawn following the dance and threw his body into a lake. For ten days Lynch hid in the woods, but eventually he was caught and sentenced to be hanged. Because Lynch was a town favorite, the official hangman refused to carry out the sentence. But on the morning chosen for the execution the boy's father, Mayor James Fitzstephen Lynch, led his son from his cell and with the firm message, "courage, my son" slipped the noose over the boy's head and hanged him—in the presence of the astonished population of Galway!

REFERENDUM

ON

REDUCTION OF STAFF OF FIRE DEPARTMENT

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given to the electors of the Municipality of Victoria that the Municipal Council has resolved that the opinion of the said electors be taken by ballot at the time of the [illegible] of the annual municipal election on the following question, namely:

"ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF THE REDUCTION ALREADY MADE TO THE STAFF OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT IN ORDER TO MEET THE CITY'S FINANCIAL CONDITION"

AND THAT I accordingly desire the said electors to be present at the building known as the "Victoria Public Market Building," Cormorant Street, in the City of Victoria, at the time of the holding of the said election, namely, between the hours of NINE o'clock A.M. and SEVEN o'clock P.M. on THURSDAY, the ELEVENTH day of DECEMBER [illegible] for the purpose of voting by ballot on the said question.

GIVEN under my hand at Victoria, British Columbia, this 3rd day of December, 1952.

Sooke Cub Pack Hikes Four Miles

SOOKE, Dec. 3. Sooke Cub Pack enjoyed a hike Saturday to Camp Bernard, off the old Otter Point Road. Scouts Jim Baker, [illegible] taught the Cubs how to make a camp fire and led the 19 lads in outdoor games.

Noontime was really exciting when three cars from Sooke, driven by committee members, arrived with a hot dinner. Later the Cubs were driven the four miles home.

Sooke Cubs plan to have a father and son night early in the new year. A parent night for both Scouts and Cubs, when pictures are to be shown, is also forthcoming.

Eleven new Cubs bring the total membership to 23.

Players View Demonstration Of Making-Up

SOOKE, Dec. 3. Sooke Players, meeting in Sooke Community Hall Tuesday night, saw P. W. Taylor, a local artist, give a demonstration of make-up.

With easel, paper and charcoal Mr. Taylor sketched his subjects with ease and speed. Later, members made up each other.

The usual after-meeting skits were of a contrasting choice. Mrs. [illegible] Miss N. Leaver and Hubert Piggott put on "Blanchard's Trousers," a comedy in which the three women each cut off a piece of Blanchard's trousers, to comply with his request to have them shortened.

The second skit was a scene from Shakespeare's tragedy "Macbeth," with Dorothy Kendrew, Muriel Westad and Florence Acreman taking the parts of the Three Witches. Tom Dixon directed.

Douglas Forrester, president, presided at the preliminary business session.

Red Cross Decides Blood Clinic Dates

The Victoria and District Red Cross Society will hold its next blood clinic at the society headquarters, 1046 Fort Street, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

On Monday the society will hold a morning and afternoon clinic at the legislative buildings for the civil servants and the other three days the clinic will be at the headquarters.

The society is hoping to get 300 donations each day during the clinic or a total of 1,200 pints.

Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce has issued another challenge to all Victoria service clubs to try to better its percentage of blood donors.

During the last clinic the chamber had 64 per cent of its membership donate blood. This time it wants 100 per cent. The chamber will attend the clinic Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Mayer Restrained In Cinerama Praise

BY HAROLD HEFFERNAN

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 3 (NANA). Pouring on the "oil" is common everyday procedure in movie business, but no one ever sprayed the lubricant quite so effectively as did Louis B. Mayer as he spoke to fellow film producers honoring him at a "milestone" dinner in the Hotel Biltmore.

Only a few weeks ago Mayer, retired boss of M.G.M. studio, had come back to the industry as head man of the sensational new three-dimensional Cinerama, and had proclaimed, for all the world to hear, that the device would revolutionize motion pictures just as sound did 25 years ago.

But, before all his old cronies, Mayer was on the spot. With a fine dinner over and a handsome plaque in his hand, it would have been the height of ingratitude had he exploded with his true enthusiasm about Cinerama.

In turning the convenient damper on his Cinerama Association, Mayer said that "although it is tremendously thrilling," it has only a limited place in the future of film business. Everyone in the big room looked startled. Was L.B. pulling out of the thing, after all? They leaned forward eagerly as he continued.

"I saw the silent film grow," he went on, "from a few hundred feet to the multiple-length feature, the silent film replaced by sound—and now I am to be a part of something I consider tremendously thrilling, something I could not resist."

Cinerama will have a definite ceiling, Mayer insisted. "Not a ceiling in imagination," he added, "but in where and how it can be used. No one knows for sure, but my guess is that no more than 2(a) theatres will have Cinerama within the next two or three years. It is for selected theatres, selected stories, for selective audiences."

Mayer's nervous listeners, members of the Hollywood Producers' Guild, seemed to get some slight comfort from his remarks.

L.B.'s lukewarm enthusiasm is not shared by any of his associates, especially Meriam C. Cooper, vice-president and one of the Cinerama inventors. Once again, Cooper reiterated an earlier prediction: "In five years the present method of film making and presentation will have become obsolete."

Cinerama, by the way, has a rival snarling at its heels, known as Natural Vision. This one has a trick to it. Entering the theatre, you are given a pair of special polarized plastic glasses and you will kick in a 10-cent fee, keeping the specs for future attractions.

GREATER VICTORIA WATER DISTRICT

TENDERS FOR TIMBER SALE

Sealed tenders will be received by the Greater Victoria Water District up to [illegible] o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday, February 10, 1953, for the purchase of and a licence to cut and remove all the dead timber, standing or down, and all the live timber designated for removal by the Chief Commissioner of the Greater Victoria Water District within Block 1[illegible], Malahat Land District.

Specifications, conditions of contract, schedule of species and rates therefor to be submitted with and form part of the tender, and plan of the area may be seen at the offices of the Board, Dominion Bank Building, Douglas and Yates Street, Victoria, B.C., and one copy thereof may be obtained on payment of the sum of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars, which sum will be refunded on return of the documents in good condition.

The highest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Labor Council Members Say Neish No Delegate of Theirs to Peking

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A F L. T L.C.) last night divorced itself from reports that Elgin Neish was a trade union delegate to a recent Peking peace conference.

Speaking at a Victoria Peace Council meting, Mr. Neish was introduced as a conference delegate from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and other unions said ... B.C. Electric Office Employees' delegate.

Mr. Neish admitted under questioning that he had been sent only by the Victoria Peace Council, Mr. Harris reported.

"My impression of his report was that Neish saw Communist propoganda," Mr. Harris added.

Council endorsed the delegate's motion stating that the council or any of its affiliated unions did not participate in sending ... delegate to the Peking peace conference.

Members of parliament will be asked to state their opinion on proposed amendments to the Criminal Code as they affect labor.

The council last night endorsed a motion to that effect. At the same time delegates present voiced opinions generally against amendments concerning labor organizations.

... with a motion, followed reading of a letter from the Trades and Labor Congress which stated that the congress executive had met the justice minister and "was not unduly concerned" over the proposals.

The Victoria council received and filed the letter, which also charged that some members of the League of Democratic Rights are known members of the Labor Progressive Party. A league publication has been actively protesting the Criminal Code amendments.

Council at earlier meetings had passed a resolution urging that the code contain protection for right to strike and right to picket.

The motion will be considered by a T.L.C. convention next week at Nanaimo.

Confidence Vote Given to Holmes

Major H. C. Holmes, chairman of the roads committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island Tuesday received a unanimous vote of confidence in his work.

The vote was passed by the association's executive and other members representing 14 chambers on the Island. Major Holmes had been the subject of criticism from Comox area concerning the road program

Suggestion on Spending Wins $500

For suggesting a good way to spend it, a Qualicum Beach man has won $500, and an up-Island school will benefit from it.

R. C Roberts of Qualicum, and a teacher at the Qualicum Beach High School, was informed yesterday he had won $500 on a radio quiz program that wanted contestants to tell, "in 25 words or less," how they would spend $500.

Mr. Roberts suggested the money could be used to buy books for the new school library.

Asked last night what he was going to do with it he said:

"I didn't know how much it would be but I think I will give $100 to the school library—for ...

As for the rest of the money, he added

"I can sure use it."

Radio listeners will be able to hear the story of Mr. Roberts and the $500, this morning at 9.30 on the Kate Aitken show over station CJVI.

Student Pirates Amass Rich Booty

Captain Kidd, Blackbeard Captain Morgan, Hawkins and many other noted buccaneers and pirates were at Oak Bay High School yesterday afternoon.

The occasion was Captain Kidd's Carnival, which is staged by the students every second year in aid of students' council enterprises.

The carnival was a "huge" success, according to David Watkins, publicity director.

The students had counted $1,577 by 10.30 p.m. last night.

Yesterday's Blackbeard gathered his booty by selling second hand pocket books, Captain Morgan dealt in records and sheet music and Hawkins sold home cooking.

Potato Mart Termed Risky

There is no confirmation that speculators have caused high potato prices, provincial agriculture officials said yesterday.

There is no law against speculation but the potato market is very risky for anyone, said M. M. Gilchrist, provincial markets commissioner.

Friend Pays Tribute To Mrs. Nash

Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Nash, who died at 93 in Vancouver last September leaving $343,394, was a wonderful woman, according to Mrs. Janet McNeely of 45 Knollwood Road, View Royal.

"Mrs. Nash had a more alive and vivid personality than many younger persons I know," Mrs. McNeely said.

Mrs. McNeely was objecting to a recent story in the Colonist which quoted neighbors describing Mrs. Nash as "the poorest little woman in the district," and "you might say she was shabby."

"It was foolish to say 'she didn't have a second dress to her name'," Mrs. McNeely said. "Her garden was her hobby where she always loved to be and no one wears their good clothes while gardening."

"She was always busy and took care of both her home and garden entirely by herself and did so until she left Victoria a year ago," Mrs. McNeely added. "She was most generous in giving plants and shrubs to her friends."

According to Mrs. McNeely, Mrs. Nash often entertained those who knew and loved her, and was a keen bridge player.

"Less than three weeks before she died she spent a couple of days in Victoria and drove out to spend the evening at our home and we found her most entertaining," Mrs. McNeely said.

"We miss her very much."

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

THREE AGAINST ONE

Uncle Wiggily was giving a Thanksgiving Party to all the animal boys and girls of Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountain. The party was in the hollow stump bungalow.

Just as Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy was bringing in the ice cream and cake suddenly there was a noise at the bungalow front door.

"Oh, my goodness me sakes alive and a water pistol full of ice cream!" exclaimed the muskrat lady housekeeper. "What's that, Uncle Wiggily?"

"It sounded like a knock at the door," answered Mr. Longears. "Perhaps it is one of the animal boys or girls who is coming late to my Thanksgiving party."

"All the animal boys and girls are here," said Nurse Jane, who had been counting the children so she would know how much ice cream to serve.

"So they are," Uncle Wiggily agreed, as he looked around the table. He saw Billie Wagtail the goat sitting between Jackie and Peetie, Bow Wow the puppy dog boys. He saw Alice Wibble-wobble, the romantic duck girl, writing a verse about Thanksgiving. "Yes, Nurse Jane, all the boys and girls are here at my Thanksgiving dinner. So it can not be one of them who knocked at the door," said Mr. Longears.

"I wonder who it is!" squeaked the muskrat lady as she sat down on the table the tray of ice cream and cake. "Who knocked at the door?"

"The best way to find out is to open the door," said Uncle Wiggily.

"I will open the door," offered Buster the rabbit scout.

"Oh, no! Don't!" exclaimed Nurse Jane.

"Why not?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"Because," replied Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "it may be the skillery scallery alligator with the double-jointed tail!"

"Ha! Ha! Nonsense, if you please!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily with a jolly laugh. "That 'gator ran far away into the woods after Billie, Jackie and Peetie splashed paint on his double-jointed tail. So it can't be the 'gator who is knocking at the door."

Just then the knock sounded again.

"Oh, dear me and a pair of roller skates!" squeaked Nurse Jane. "Maybe it is Gruff and Grim the cross bears Uncle Wiggily!"

"Ha! Ha! Nonsense again, if you please," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Those cross bears have also run away to the woods. I think this may be some friend to wish me a jolly Thanksgiving. Buster, please open the door and see who is knocking."

"I wonder who it is."

The brave rabbit scout opened the door and there stood Chief the police dog.

"Why, hello, Chief!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "You are just in time to join my Thanksgiving party. The ice cream and cake are ready to be served. Come in and sit down!"

"Thank you, no Uncle Wiggily. I haven't time!" politely barked Chief. "I am in a hurry!"

"What's your hurry, Chief?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he twinkled his pink nose. "And why did you knock so many times?"

"I wanted you to hurry and open the door," explained Chief. "I wanted to see if Gruff and Grim, or the skillery scallery alligator, might be in your bungalow."

"No, thank goodness, they are not here," answered Uncle Wiggily. "Why did you think they might be, Chief?"

"Well," explained the police dog, "as my helper, Sergeant Bill, and I were cruising in the squad car a little while ago, we saw the 'gator and the two bears shuffling through the woods."

"Oh, my goodness!" squeaked Nurse Jane.

"Take it easy, if you please Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy," said Chief. "If those three bad chaps are not here, they probably are not coming."

"But if they should come," whispered Uncle Wiggily, and his pink nose turned rather pale, "if they should come they would be three against me, three against one. What shall I do, Chief?"

In the next story I will tell you what Chief answered. But I hope the egg beater doesn't put chocolate icing on the cake of soap and give it to the gold fish to play football with.

BRIDGE QUIZ

"Do you play the short club?" Some partners ask this question almost as if it were an aspersion on your morals, others, as if it were a system all by itself. It is neither. Most players employ a short club bid (which means an opening bid of one club on a three-card suit) with a certain kind of hand. This may be one that would entail a rebidding headache if any other opening bid were selected, or one which must be opened but does not offer any other suitable bid. Properly used, such a bid solves many a problem.

With both sides vulnerable, what is your bid with each of the following hands?

♠ K 9 ? 8
♡ Q 9 7 8
◇ A 2
♣ A J 10

(b)
♠ K Q 7 8
♡ A Q 10 7
◇ 8 2
♣ A J 3

(c)
♠ ? 10 8
♡ A ? 3
◇ A 8 2
♣ K 10 8

(d)
♠ A ? ? 8
♡ K 9 6
◇ Q 10 8
♣ A K J

(e)
♡ K J ,
◇ ? 10 6
♣ A K J

(f)
♠ K Q 8
♡ 10 ? 8 3
◇ A K J
♣ J 8 ?

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(a) One club. Neither major is a sound biddable suit, but if partner can bid hearts or spades in response, you will have found the proper suit for the hand to play at.

(b) One spade. There is no need to bid one club with this hand. You intend to show both majors. The point is that if you are destined to play a part score contract, you'd prefer one of the majors to the inadequate club suit.

(c) One club. Any other bid will create a tremendous rebidding problem, but one club will let you bid one notrump over any suit response except one heart, which, of course, you will raise to two.

(d) One notrump. You have a perfect one notrump bid with 17 points in the 4, 3, 2, 1 point count.

(e) One club. You are too strong for one notrump. One club is far more likely to get an informative response than if you bid one spade.

(f) One diamond. You must have at least three to a queen in order to bid the clubs. But a three-card diamond suit is equally "biddable" especially if it is the lead you would prefer should the opponent win the contract. (The heart suit isn't biddable, and you don't have enough points for an opening bid of one no trump.)

By RITA DEL MAR

FOR THURSDAY, DEC. 4, 1952

Today's quotation: "The word alms has no singular, as if to teach us that a solitary act of charity scarcely deserves the name." — Anonymous.

Thursday for everyone: Take no chances. Carry on with whatever is already started or under way rather than attempt anything new of importance. Avoid haste, tension, upsets. Be diplomatic, methodical. Double-check details, routes. Obey traffic regulations.

Look for your birthdate and birthsign below.

March 21 to April 19 (Aries) — Exercise discretion in dealing with those in your home, office or base.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus) — Don't dissipate your energies in pursuits that lead to a "dead end." Defer travel.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini) — Sidetrack a tendency to risk funds or assets in unsound ventures. Conserve.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer) — Be adaptable, patient, forbearing today. Head off friction, hurt feelings.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo) — Employ perception and tolerance to avoid incurring enmity. Exercise dietary control.

Aug 23 to Sept 22 (Virgo) — Be more tactful with friends, business associates. Add to savings.

Sept. 23 to Oct 22 (Libra) — Give precedence to commercial, credit and filial responsibilities; don't call down censure.

Oct 23 to Nov 21 (Scorpio) — Devote yourself to necessary plans and decisions. Choose confidants with extreme caution.

Nov 22 to Dec 21 (Sagittarius) — Follow a conservative methodical path, avoid chance taking dangers. Store up reserves.

Dec 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn) — Fall back on your own resources. Mark time; let others "go around in circles."

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius) — Don't begrudge hours spent on chores, necessities. Be methodical, persevering.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces) — Recheck the wisdom of any current changes in sentiments. Protect capital, resources.

Planning ahead — Good for entertaining, sociability, etc., December 6, 8, 9, 10, 15, 16, 17, 19, 22, 25, 26, 30.

H. Lee-Wright Dies in City

Lieut.-Col. Harold Lee-Wright, D.S.O., a retired officer of the Royal Engineers, died at Royal Jubilee Hospital, Monday, after a short illness. He was 69

Lieut.-Col. Lee-Wright was born in London, England.

Funeral services will be held [illegible] Chapel Friday at 2.15 p.m. Cremation will follow at Royal Oak and burial will be at Holy Trinity Churchyard, Patricia Bay.

Aircrew Course Details Given by Visiting Officer

WITH THE NAVY

Several months ago the Royal Canadian Navy introduced a new program designed to provide aircrew training for members of the naval reserve force.

Available facilities have [illegible] allowed for a rapid expansion of such training courses on a national scale, but opportunities do exist for R.C.N. (R) personnel of Victoria and Vancouver.

Details of the comparatively new training phase were outlined yesterday by Lieut.-Cmdr. [illegible] Kniffen, who serves as [illegible] torate of naval reserves in Ottawa.

He reached Victoria yesterday in the course of a cross-country tour in which he is studying the possibilities of obtaining additional reserve navy personnel for aircrew training. He arrived from Calgary, and before returning to Ottawa will visit the naval divisions at Vancouver and Edmonton.

The navy now has two Harvard aircraft stationed at Patricia Bay. These planes, Lieut.-Cmdr. Kniffen explained, are available for naval reserve personnel training, and refresher courses, for reservists of Victoria and Vancouver. The aircraft visit Vancouver Friday and Saturday of each week to serve a similar purpose there.

Two sub-lieutenants attached in Victoria's naval reserve division, H.M.C.S. Malahat, are taking refresher courses in the Harvards. They are David Slader and Fred Francis.

LIEUT. A. M. DAVIDSON

In charge of the reserve aircrew training for this area is Lieut. A. M. Davidson. He has been stationed at Patricia Bay for the past several months, and directs the training program for Malahat here and H.M.C.S. Discovery in Vancouver. About six naval reservists of the Mainland division are taking the air courses.

The new air training program is still in its infancy, Lieut.-Cmdr. Kniffen explained, and whether or not it continues and expands, depends largely on the extent of interest shown by personnel of the country's naval divisions. Before this training project started all such air training was provided by the Royal Canadian Navy air station at Dartmouth, N.S.

* * *

C.P.O. Walter Burch at H.M.C.S. Malahat reports the division this week is extending a welcome to new members: A.B. G. Colwill, C.P.O. J. Anderson, and P.O. Harry Dunn.

* * *

The destroyer H.M.C.S. Iroquois is due at Esquimalt December 16 on her way to Halifax from another assignment with the United Nations forces in Korea. Earlier it had been reported the warship would dock here December 17.

Approximately 100 men will leave the ship here in order to arrive at their eastern Canadian homes in time for Christmas. After a brief stay here, Iroquois will be taken to her home port by a comparatively small steaming party.

Meanwhile local naval officials report no change in arrival-home time for Pacific Command's cruiser Ontario. She is due here December 18 to complete a South American cruise which started last September 8.

Early next year the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will present, on its national hookup, a special one-hour documentary program dealing entirely with the Canadian naval force, its personnel and activities.

Now at the local naval base to tape record portions of the program telling of Pacific Command activities is William Herbert, special events producer for the C.B.C. in Western Canada. With him is engineer Kenneth Buhr. Local tape recordings will emphasize activities found at the supply and ordnance schools and those connected with anti-submarine operations at sea. The national program will also include selections played by the famous navy band of H.M.C.S. Naden.

It is possible the program will also be carried at a later date by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

* * *

Lieut.-Cmdr. John Garrard, first lieutenant at H.M.C.S. Malahat, has announced the following training program for the local naval reservists for Monday night:

Divisional officers, gunnery lecture and parade training; new entries, parade training and instruction on charts and buoys; communications branch, training as per syllabus; same for engine room, storemen and electricians' branches.

* * *

Traditions of the Royal Canadian Navy are being given prominent publicity by the trades journal Canadian Shipping & Marine Engineering News. In its current monthly issue, the magazine features on its cover the navy's famous Christmas Day tradition, in which the youngest seaman in any given warship exchanges his uniform with the captain.

The seaman enjoys all the privileges and courtesies of his suddenly-acquired rank, while the captain attends on him with all the respect due his uniform and office.

It is generally believed this harmless amusement originated as a substitute for the wilder (and wetter) Christmas celebration of old.

* * *

Lieut. John Harbron, currently attached to H.M.C.S. Naden, will be guest speaker at today's Empress Hotel luncheon meeting of the Victoria Rotary Club. In his talk entitled "Canada Looks at Latin America" he will deal with trade between the two countries, and tell of various radio and film associations existing between the two areas.

Recently Lieut. Harbron presented an interesting and fact-filled series of lectures to members of the local naval reserve division. For many years he has been a keen student of Canadian naval history.

TV Fatigue Leads to Jail

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Dec. 3 (AP)—Leland W. Shute told a judge Monday watching television at night made him too tired to work during the day.

So Judge Leo W. Breed sentenced him to serve two to four years in prison for violation of probation — namely inadequate support of his family.

Play at York Held Over Until Saturday

Clutterbuck may have been banned in Boston but Victorians have been finding it just to their [illegible].

B. B. Milnes, managing-director of the York Theatre Company, announced yesterday that the company's production of Clutterbuck would be extended.

The play was supposed to ring down the final curtain last night but it has been decided to hold it over until Saturday.

The hilarious comedy, billed as adult entertainment only, will start every evening at 8.

Gift Replaces Holiday Party

Instead of the usual staff Christmas party the open shelf and traveling libraries division of the Public Library Commission will give a donation to the benevolent fund of the Victoria branch of the Provincial Government Employees' Association.

This move was decided at the regular monthly staff meeting held yesterday afternoon.

The members felt that a cash contribution, in addition to the collection of tinned foods made at this time throughout the service, would be a practical way of spreading Christmas cheer.

A clean paint brush with soft bristles can be used to dust lamp shades and other household furnishings which may be hard to dust with a cloth.

Evidence Concerning X-Ray Films To Be Introduced in Case Here

Evidence concerning X-ray films will be introduced into B.C. Supreme Court here today.

Dr. H. M. E. Edmison, chief radiologist of Royal Jubilee Hospital, is to report on the X-rays taken of a baby after it was injured in a traffic accident.

The action is by baby Stephen [illegible] A. Elliott, 1032 Verrinder Avenue, who claim damages from Raymond Huntley, 19 and his father, Henry, of 223 Robert Street. A counterclaim has been filed by the Huntleys.

The suit arose from an accident September 16, 1951, at the intersection of Vancouver and Southgate Streets. It is claimed the baby, four months old at the time of the accident, sustained a fractured skull and other injuries as a result of the collision.

Mrs. Mary Elliott testified yesterday that the collision threw the baby from a "carry-cot" on the rear seat to the floor. She also was in the rear seat and her husband was driving the car, Mrs. Elliott said.

NOT WALKING

Her son was in the hospital for 12 days after the accident. He is not walking or talking, she added.

Counsel for the Huntleys, Paul B. Paine, Vancouver, questioned the mother concerning the child's present well being.

"In court this morning he spoke."

"He can say O.K." replied Mrs. Elliott.

"He stands and walks holding to things?" asked Mr. Paine.

"Yes."

Earlier testimony before Mr. [illegible] and Dr. Andrew Gillespie, child specialist, state that after the accident the baby's development had been slowed.

Also appearing for the Huntleys is Miss Constance Holmes. J. A. Byers is counsel for the Elliotts.

See the Hornby Clockwork Trains too! Prices start as low as $4.25

All Hornby Trains are guaranteed.

HAVE A COMPLETE MODEL RAILROAD!

Later, you can add scale-model Hornby signals, water cranes, stations, bridges and extra rolling stock of all descriptions—until you have a real railroad in miniature! You will be proud to own this Aristocrat of model trains. Be the envy of every kid on the street—ask for a Hornby Dublo for Christmas!

COMPLETE LAYOUT IN 4' X 6' AREA

The Hornby Dublo can be completely set up on an ordinary table.

Compact enough to fit in the smallest room in the house! Has everything you'll find on much larger layouts—yet doesn't take up nearly so much space. Here are the thrills of real railroading . . . on a table-top . . . at the touch of a single lever.
